Foreword

The time is near when the Senior Class will break up into its component parts, and each member will go forth, unattended, to make his or her place in the world. May we urge the adoption of the following well-known principles of guidance: "To do the right thing at the right time in the right way; to do some things better than they were ever done before; to know both sides of a question; to be courteous; to work for the love of the work; to master circumstances; to be satisfied with nothing short of perfection."

The Executive Committee

IN the same manner that the Board of Supervisors directs the affairs of this city, the Executive Committee directs and controls the affairs that concern Lowell High School.

Composed of all student-body officers, and representatives of the athletic and non-athletic school groups, the committee passes all the legislation that is necessary for the maintenance of school activities. If, for example, an athletic team wishes to schedule a game with an outside opponent, it must first receive the consent of the committee. Or if a constitutional amendment is needed, it is the committee that decides upon its provisions and presents it to the school for ratification.

The fact that this term's school business has been so well conducted, proves that the Executive Committee for this semester has been a hard-working conscientious group of students who have had the ideals of Lowell at heart.

Breyer, Powers, Hynes, O'Brien, Blockley, Halsted, Shattuck.
d'Alessio, Miss Selig, Hart (chairman), Berry, Miss Brown, Stiles

The "Ad Drive" Committee

HOSE who composed the "Ad Drive" Committee this semester should be given a vote of thanks for their excellent work in spurring the students on to the attainment of one of the largest sums ever subscribed to Red and White advertising. Not only was this body one of the prime factors in determining the success of this journal, but it was an upholder of a Lowell tradition of long standing: that of conducting a successful "Ad Drive." If the efforts of this committee did not meet with success, this journal of school activities could not be published.

To Dorothy Brown and Jack Powers goes the honor of leading the winning class, the Low Freshmen, to victory in the drive for ads. The other members of the committee were: George Hart in charge, assisted by William Hynes, Kenneth Berry, Wagner d'Alessio, Stanley Breyer, George Stiles, Lenore Selig, Dan Marx, Ted Blockley, Richard Guggenhime, Eminel Halsted, Richard O'Brien, William Shattuck, Dorothy Brown and Jack Powers.

Robert Schermer

George Bocarde
Chairman

Sidney Lipstich

The Staging Committee

WHILE students are engaged in praising the efforts of the cast of the Dramatics Club plays, they should not forget to give credit to an integral cog in the machinery responsible for the success of "Once in a Blue Moon" and the several one-act plays produced. This essential part is the Staging Committee, whose business it is to attend to the actual stage work of the productions. George Bocarde is chairman of this group, the two other members being Robert Schermer and Sidney Lipstich.

This hard-working trio certainly deserves much credit for the invaluable service which they have performed. The construction and the painting of the scenery has been accomplished in a most satisfactory manner. As all the members of the committee belong to the class of June '25 it is hoped that the work they have carried on so well, will be continued.

Scott Webster, Chairman

Sumner Medau

Sheldon Potter

Howard Kennedy

The Boys' Court Committee

WHEN a group of boys get together and voluntarily offer their services for the good of Lowell, they deserve commendation.

Just such a group is the Boy's Court Committee, whose duties are the cultivation of the plants in the court, and the cleaning up of the walks surrounding the school.

These boys on the committee are willing workers, who wish to do their bit for Lowell. Few students realize just how hard they work and their actions are all the more commendable for the reason that they receive little or no recognition from the school.

Lowell owes the Boys' Court Committee a vote of thanks for their untiring efforts in attempting to make Lowell a cleaner and brighter place.

The chairman of the committee is Scott Webster while its members are Howard Kennedy, Sheldon Potter, and Sumner Medau.

Misses Bouick, McKenzie, Dunbar, H. Braun, K. Braun, Thomson
Cullen, Schiek, Hamm, Chairman, McDonald, Denke.

Girls' Rest Room Committee

NDER the capable leadership of Winifred Hamm, the Rest Room Committee has definitely proven itself a necessity to the entire school.

Miss Braese, the faculty advisor, has given the members of her staff a very efficient course in first aid, so that they are capable of meeting almost any emergency.

Two hundred and twenty-three is a sunny little room and it is in this miniature hospital that first aid and comfortable rest are offered to both pupils and teachers. No thanks can be too great for the patience and co-operation of the Rest Room Staff who have sacrificed their own study periods for the good of the school. Miss Ham was ably assisted by Helen and Katherine Braun, Betty Thomson, Nancy McKenzie, Grace Rupert, Jane Schieke, Beatrice Denke, Helen Cullen and Katherine Dunbar.

CLASSES

The Freshmen

NE of the best Freshman classes that has ever entered Lowell! Such seems to be the consensus of opinion of the entire student body.

Composed of boys and girls who give promise of developing into true Lowellites this class is expected to accomplish great things.

Showing enthusiastic Lowell spirit at the very outset, the Low Frosh made a runaway race of the "Ad Drive" and easily won first honors.

There are several athletes in the class who will bear watching in the near future. Among them are Hodges, who has already proven his mettle on the oval, and Lindner, who should develop into quite a formidable golfer.

In all, their showing this term has been very encouraging and their future should be watched with interest by the entire school.

The Sophomores

As a rule the Sophomore Class is one that is least active in school activities. This year's class must be the exception to that rule, as its members are among the most prominent students in school affairs and are in nearly all of the school activities.

There is hardly a line of school work in which the Sophomore Class is not represented. The school athletic teams would be greatly depleted and the school organizations would be at a great disadvantage if the Sophomores were not there with their true Lowell spirit.

Among those students in the class who have done especially good work in various lines at Lowell are Stephen Garin, one of the school's best photographers; Tom Schulte, president of the Riding Club; Cohn, who plays cornet in the band; Miss B. Cullen, who shows exceptional baseball ability; and Howard Kennedy, a very valuable weight track man.

The Sophomores will soon be the upper classmen of the school and to them Lowell will look for her future "greats." Their past record is a good one. To keep up their good work they must keep striving to accomplish something better for Lowell, their Alma Mater.

The Low Juniors

AFTER two years of apprenticeship, the rank of upper classman has been attained by December '27. Good scholastic records prevailed throughout the term and school spirit was most evident among the third year classmen. Future Juniors should model their conduct after June and December '26.

The class of December '27 combined with the class of June '27 to give the Junior dance. The committees worked hard and a splendid dance was given, on which occasion a marble pedestal was presented to the school.

The third year class formed a backbone for numerous teams. Other members joined clubs, and served on various committees. Bill Windsor, Bill Parker, Al Levy and Elmer Anfinson all made the baseball team. Ted Sanderson, David Hewes, Bud Jennings and George McDaniel are trackmen of note.

In swimming, Ralph Montali and Herbert Fowler were the stars. Many others made teams too numerous to mention.

High Juniors

WITH the election of two of their most prominent members, Stanley Breyer and Helen Cullen, as president and vice-president respectively, the High Juniors displayed their usual eager interest in the affairs of the school. They are indeed an outstanding class in all activities. Dolan is a baseball star, Tom Wilkinson shone brilliantly in swimming, and Dalpino, Franchi, and others are maintaining the athletic record of the class. The Inter-class Swimming Meet was won by these, and the girls are no less active in Tennis, in Baseball, and in Volleyball. They are especially represented by Irene Mensing and Katharine Braun. The popular president, Stanley Breyer, as a well-known debater, and Eminel Halsted, Miss Becsey, and Miss Reinhart have recently shown their dramatic ability in several short plays and in the term play.

Low Seniors

LOW is a typical array of some of the Low Seniors who are making the impressive history of their class. Each one of the officers has especially stood out in some capacity, while a number of other students have also contributed in some way to the Low Senior glory. Robarts, Musto, Taylor, Vrendenberg, and Ewing helped compose our championship football team. Thomas and Bias have been remarked on other teams. Baker and Shumaker formed part of the championship Track Team, while Eagan in baseball, and Montgomery, the earnest worker for crew, are all Low Seniors. Misses Gaetjen, Mowbray, Tokato, Levin, Moriarity, Douglas and Wilson have worked for the girls.

In all, the class is carrying on toward a bright future as the graduating class of December '25.

Class History

WHEN, in August, 1921, the class of freshmen entered Lowell, there was something quite unusual, quite different about them; for they came not as the proverbial freshmen shaking in their shoes, or with quaking knees but confident, eager to start their high school careers, for this was the beginning of a new period in their lives to which most of them had long looked forward. There was already an unequaled spirit of loyalty to Lowell among them. Coming this way, is it any wonder that June '25 can boast of active members in her class? So, now at the end of our four years, we have a history, one telling of our good spirit, work, and accomplishments. This is a history to boast of, one to be envied and copied. "History repeats itself?" Well, here's a time when a repetition would surely be to its credit.

The first few weeks were a little different from anything we had ever experienced before. There was that feeling of being not quite "in it." But then came the reception given by the "High and Mighties." They didn't hold out much hope for us then, but a good time was provided, and we all tried and succeeded in getting a little better acquainted. Since then we've surprised them all by our pep! The excitement died down, the newness was wearing off and we wandered hopefully about trying to absorb a fairly intelligent amount of Latin, Math, and the rest of the tortuous subjects we had to take. So we struggled until we were Juniors.

Things began to look brighter then. We felt as though we were becoming quite an important unit in Lowell's workings, for certain sturdy young athletes as "Joe" Smith, Harold Brown, Frank Wagner, and "Marsh" Dunn were in our ranks. The girls—Bernice Ludwig, Virginia Tucker, Elna Swesey, Henrietta Landman, Betty Hoffman and "Winnie" Hamm, also eager to give vent to their "pent-up" Lowell spirits, turned out for all the girls' sports.

The time for class organization had come and we chose Scott Webster president, Helen Garvin vice-president, Fred Ducato secretary, Harry Bright treasurer, Dorothy Brown representative, Joe Smith and Margaret Kilgariff as boys' and girls' athletic "reps." Our dance was a very eventful affair, one of the shining lights of the term.

With the coming of the next semester when we were High Juniors, Harry Bright as president, Dorothy Brown as vice-president, "Al" Putnam as secretary, "Bunnie" Kimball as treasurer, Joe Smith as "rep" and Perry Harris and Helene Turner as athletic reps, comprised a capable group to handle class affairs. Again our dance proved exceptional. Yes, the others were beginning to look forward to our dances! And with the help of such swimmers as Ducato, Webster, Smith, Burns, and Putnam, Lowell added another S. F. A. L. championship to her list.

After summer vacation we returned with renewed "pep." It was our last lap and we meant to win! So the term started off with a bang when the class organized under the capable leadership of "Bunnie" Kimball as president, who got us "Classy" pins, Matie McLaren as vice-president, Kenneth Berry as secretary, Wagner d'Alessio as treasurer, Perry Harris as "rep," and Myron Wacholder and Dorothy Weber as boys' and girls' athletic managers. This was a football term—what possibilities for us to turn out good material, and we did! There was Joe Smith, captain of the team, with a fighting bunch behind him. Cole, Preston, Rogerson, Campbell, Vredenburg, and Valianos gave all they had. With this support Lowell took down a championship in football, the first time in eight years. Proud? Well, guess!

Then came the spring term again—our coveted diplomas only six months away. With Fred Ducato, Margorie Leeper, George Bocarde, Frank Wagner, Bob Kasper, Jack Smith and Evelyn Webb as class officers we looked forward to startling events!

Probably the first one was the announcement of class dues and the untiring efforts of Wagner to collect them. Also, there seemed to be renewed interest in studies—"reps" in the distance perhaps. Then came the election of valedictorian and historian. Sanford Goldner, chosen valedictorian, was indeed a good selection as he has been one of our best debaters and workers.

Now, Senior Day, the one time that high fours have entirely to themselves. How the High Seniors are envied on this day! A pilgrimage through the building, the reading of the class prophecy and history, entertainment by members of the class, luncheon in the "caf" and the matinee provided ample amusement for one day.

June 5—our dance—the best ever at Lowell, our last social function together perhaps.

June 17—graduation at last! Joy for some, sorrow for others, but let all go with those ideals of loyalty, sincerity, earnestness and love for Lowell secure in their hearts.

With sincerity and enthusiasm to keep us ever young in spirit, with minds ready to compete with those that we come in contact out in the world, and with an ever growing desire for more learning which has been awakened in us here, we the class of June '25, venture forth hoping to become men and women worthy of the standards and ideals set forth and instilled in us during our four years at Lowell.

HELEN GARVIN, Class Historian.

The Debating Society

Stanley Breyer
President

UNDER the able guidance of President Breyer and the careful coaching of Mr. Lorbeer the Debating Society has completed one of its most successful terms. This society, whose main object is to foster Lowell's forensic activities, is the largest high school organization of its kind in San Francisco.

During the term Lowell engaged in an inter-society debate with Mission, the result being a draw decision, although Lowell won the honor of having best speakers at each school.

A special feature of this term was the Cup Contest, which was held in order to reward the best worker in the society. Competition for the prize has been very keen and as yet the winner has not been selected.

This term officers were: Stanley Breyer, president; Ida Hirsch, vice-president; Adolph Schumann, secretary; Frances Haseltine, publicity manager; Travers, Engelbrecht and d'Alessio, representatives.

Lowell-Girls High Debate

Breyer and Baer won the decision at Lowell, but Ida Hirsch and Vitt lost a hard-fought decision at Girls High School.

Lowell-Commerce Debate

Goldner and Levy completely outclassed the Commerce debaters, but Breyer and Baer were just nosed out at Lowell.

Lowell-Polytechnic-Girls High Debate

In a triangular debate held to determine which teams were to enter the finals of the league contests, Lowell was completely victorious, vanquishing Polytechnic and Girls High by a one-sided decision.

Lowell-Commerce Championship Debate

This debate is scheduled to come off some time in the near future. Lowell, with such sterling debaters as Goldner, Levy, Breyer, and Miss Hirsch, is conceded a very fine chance to take the championship of the S. F. D. L.

Herbert Levy, Sanford Goldner, Stanley Breyer, Louis Baer, Alfred Vitt, Ida Hirsch

The Debating Team

WITH four veteran debaters who have already demonstrated their worth, the Lowell Debating Team is figured to have better than an even chance to defeat their opponents from Commerce in the S. F. D. L. championship debate.

Those debaters who this term are going to defend Lowell's championship laurels are Sanford Goldner, Stanley Dreyer, Ida Hirsch, and Herbert Levy.

Levy and Goldner have not lost a decision since they have debated at Lowell. Both are keen analyzers of a question and they each have a good delivery.

While Breyer and Miss Hirsch have not had the experience of Goldner and Levy, they are both capable debaters and will without a doubt do their share to bring the cup once again to Lowell.

In all, it seems that Lowell is to capture once again city debating honors.

The Boys' Glee Club

Robert Wallace
President

OWING to the large number of students who desired to join the Boys' Glee Club this term, Miss Neppert, the directress, had to require all candidates to pass a prescribed test. In this manner the best material and ability among the candidates was determined, and thus was the number of members restricted to forty capable voices. The club has always been an asset to the school, and apparently more so this term.

At assemblies, during Music Week, at the Operetta, and even at graduation, the Boys' Glee Club stood out as never before. This may be accounted for by the great variation in the programs that were given by the club, these including patriotic and classic selections besides those of the lighter types. However, no matter what type the selection was, its rendition always drew a long round of applause from the audience.

Another appearance of the club was in the Operetta, where they were given every opportunity to show the results of their talents and training.

As usual, the boys' double quartet was chosen from the most capable of the club members. The final selection included the following students: First tenors, Ralph Wallace and W. Parker; second tenors, Bert Hirsch and E. O'Neil; baritones, Joe Perlman and Nat Lazarus; and basses, A. Curtiss and Charles Carillo. These boys were the special features at all the gatherings at which they were present, and they never failed to obtain their round of applause.

This term's officers were: Ralph Wallace, president; Charles Carillo, secretary and treasurer; Nat Lazarus and Michelson, librarians; and A. Curtiss, representative to the Music Club.

Girls' Glee Club

Bruna Trussi
President

By their splendid co-operation with the Dramatics Club in the production of the operetta "Once in a Blue Moon," the Girls' Glee Club once more proved itself a valuable addition to the school's activities. At rallies and assemblies their contributions, especially those of the "Triple Trio," have always been enjoyed. The "Triple Trio" is a special feature, consisting of Helen Garvin, Rosalie Droher, Corinne Atkind, Roberta Aldrich, Elizabeth Jones, Ellen Hooper, Margaret Crocker, Eunice Barg, and Mary Moe. The club practices during regular class periods and as a result of their good work Miss Badger, as director, has conducted the girls in their songs at the meetings of the Parent-Teachers' Association and the Music Teachers' Convention. At the beginning of Music Week, May eighteenth, the girls contributed to the music assembly, singing "Wanderer's Night Song" of Rubenstein, and Helen Weir's "Hindu Slumber Song."

Another phase of the Glee Club work is the compositions which are both written and sung by the girls.

At the last election Bruna Trussi was elected president; Elise Tricou, vice-president; Matie McLaren, secretary; Mildred Beltz and Bernice Cuneo, librarians; and Corinne Atkind, representative to the Music Club.

The Frank Norris Club

THE Frank Norris Club was founded in August, 1924, by a group of upper classmen interested in continuing their writing after completing the one-term course in composition. The name was adopted in honor of Frank Norris, the novelist, who was at one time a student at Lowell, and editor of the school journal.

There is so much latitude permissible with such a wide field to select material from, that the programs have been uniformly interesting and instructive. A great part of the term was given over to meetings with a special topic as their central motive. One of the best of these was the "Theater Day," during which meeting resumes and criticisms of various current plays were read by members and several photoplay reviews were given. A second interesting instance was a "Poetry Day," when original efforts in rhyme by students were read, and several dramatic readings of free verse given by talented members. The club has contributed to assembly programs when requested, notably that of Lincoln Day, and it has collected much material concerning the history of the school, which was used in a recent issue of the "Lowell."

The president of the Frank Norris Club this semester is P. Victor Svane, whose informal and intimate manner of conducting the meetings of the society has drawn for it many new members. It is of particular interest to note that now almost half the membership consisted of Freshmen. The secretary was Miss Andruss, and the vice-president Miss Tricou, both of whom discharged their offices admirably.

The faculty advisor is Mrs. Daniels, whose constant, untiring interest in the welfare of the club has been one of the principal factors contributing to its success and popularity with the students.

Ralph Werlerstein
Vice-President

Francis O'Brien

Stephen Garin
Secretary

The Camera Club

AT LAST the Camera Club may claim an important part in the publications of Lowell High School, for practically all of the full page section opener photographs found in this book were taken by members of the organization.

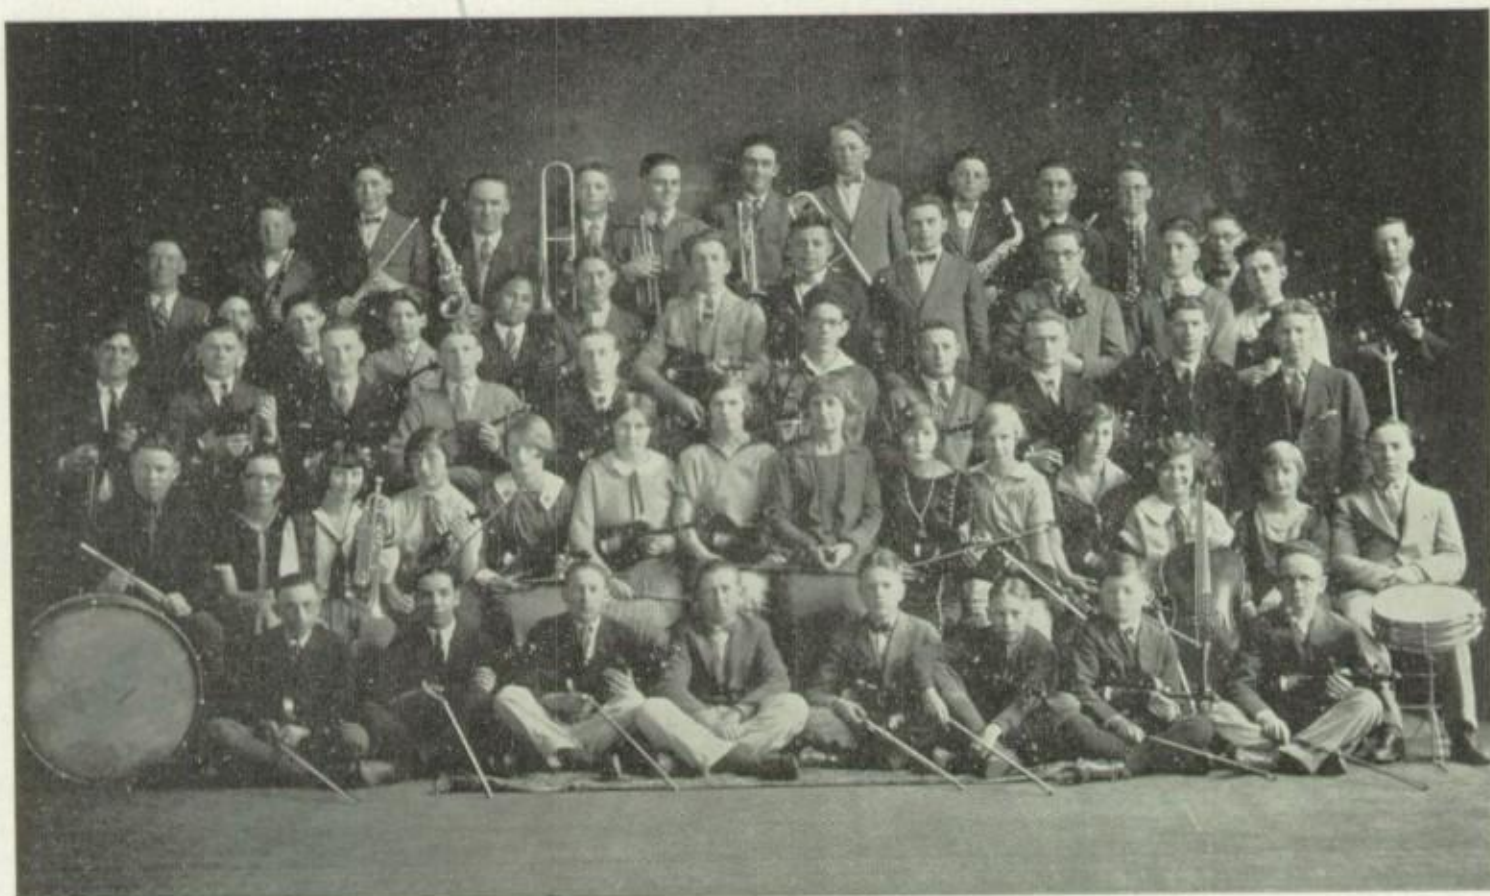

At the beginning of the term a camera of the finest type was purchased by the student body in order that records of athletic encounters, rallies, and various other school activities might be illustratedly recorded. At the very start the purchase proved to be a wise one, for was this more advanced type of camera, remarkably clear photos of our school assemblies, both indoor and out, were obtained. At the track meet and the baseball games it more than proved its worth.

The headquarters of this active club is room 333, which is fitted up in the most professional manner, with an enlarger, developing trays, acid, and printing paper. Here members may work, developing their own photographs and profiting by actual experience.

The head photographer this term is Stephen Garin, who took many of the cuts found in "The Red and White" and "The Lowell." He was ably assisted by Edward Lindenmeyer and Francis O'Brien.

The Club, at the first of the year, chose Francis O'Brien as president, Ralph Werlerstein as vice-president, and Stephen Garin as secretary, and through whose unselfish efforts the Club has advanced to its present standard.

The Orchestra

HE Orchestra has been, as usual, a very valuable part of the school activities because of the notable sense of co-operation that prevailed among the members, each member doing his part to assist Miss Neppert in obtaining the desired ends.

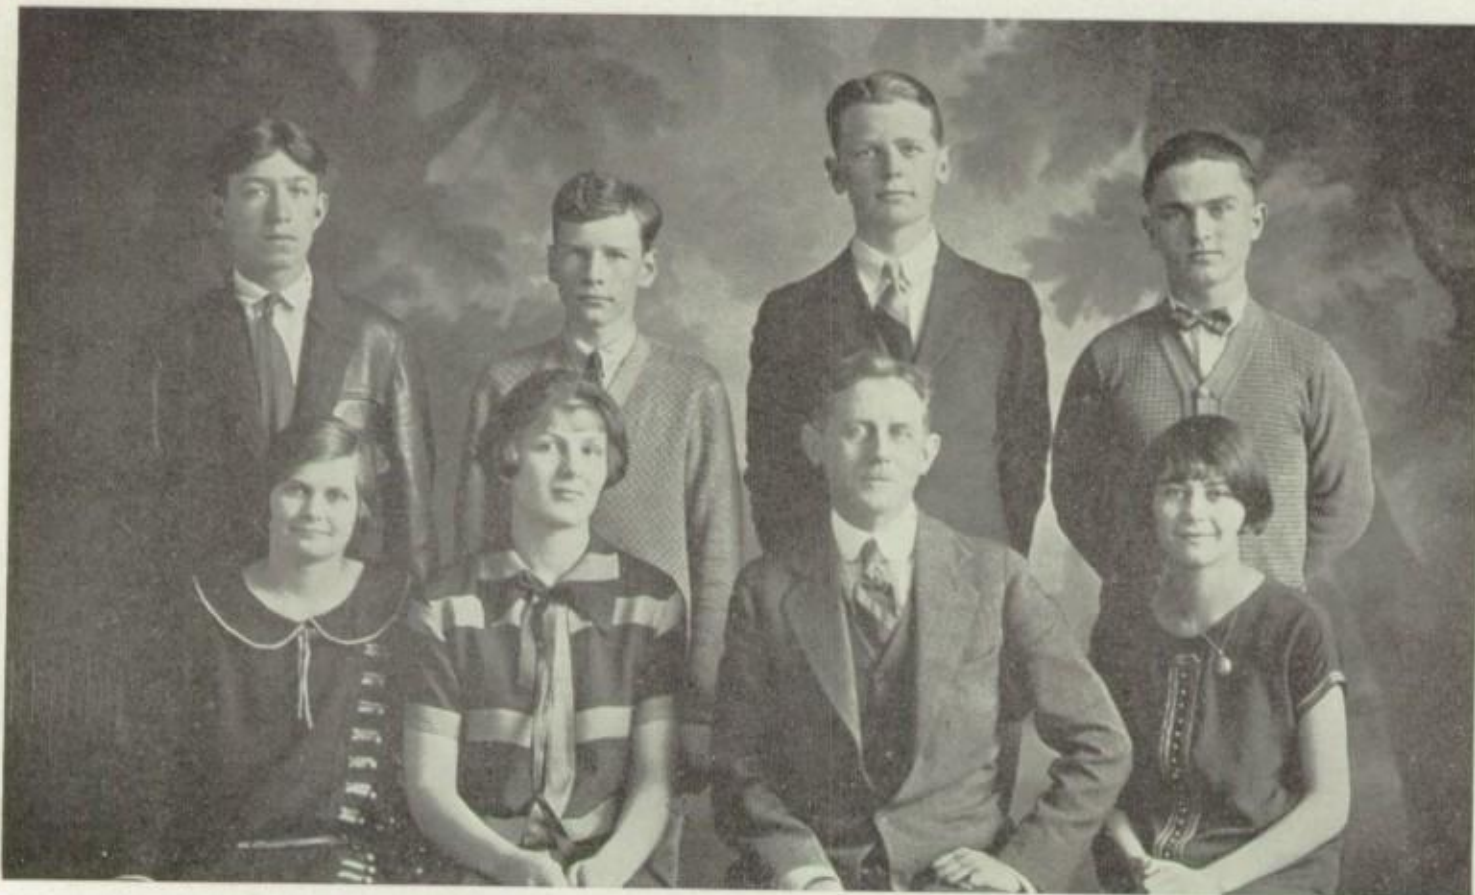

The orchestra was the largest ever in the history of the school, in fact, at the beginning of the term the candidates were forced to take competitive examinations so that the number of members could be restricted to a desired total. There were three piano accompanists who divided their time in playing with the orchestra—Al Bercovitch, Marcus Gordon, and Rogenia Sanders.

The orchestra studied a wide range of selections, ranging from great symphonies to light selections, and these numbers were given at regular and outside assemblies, at the meetings of the Parent-Teachers' Association, and at graduation.

The efficient club officers included Paul Koss, president; Fred Ducato, vice-president; Al Bercovitch, secretary-treasurer; M. Zumwalt, librarian; and Miss Griffith, representative to the Music Club.

Poster Staff

AS ADVERTISING necessarily plays an important part in the world today, so the Poster Staff plays an important part in student activities at Lowell. In making any event a success, the essential co-operation is supplied by this organization of students, whose artistic ability produces cartoons and pictorial announcements, which catch the eye of other pupils. It is a staff of workers willing to turn their time and skill to advantage of the school. Many of us do not realize the hours of diligent toil spent in the making of a poster.

This term's members include Victor Svane, Carl Bowman, Stephen Garin, Bernice Band, and Miss Hess.

The Hall-Guard

LOWELL'S vigilante committee, the Hall-Guard, certainly deserves great credit and thanks for its patriotic efforts in keeping Lowell a safe place for overcoats, hats, and other personal articles that might stray away if such a guard were not around. The Hall-Guard also keeps the teachers in a peaceful mood by ruling people out of the halls during the lunch hour, and sustaining the quiet necessary for the proper conduct of classes.

The Hall-Guard is composed of pupils from all classes of the school who cheerfully donate their time to helping maintain order in the halls. Miss Silberstein is the faculty advisor, and Theodore Hensel is head of this organized patrol.

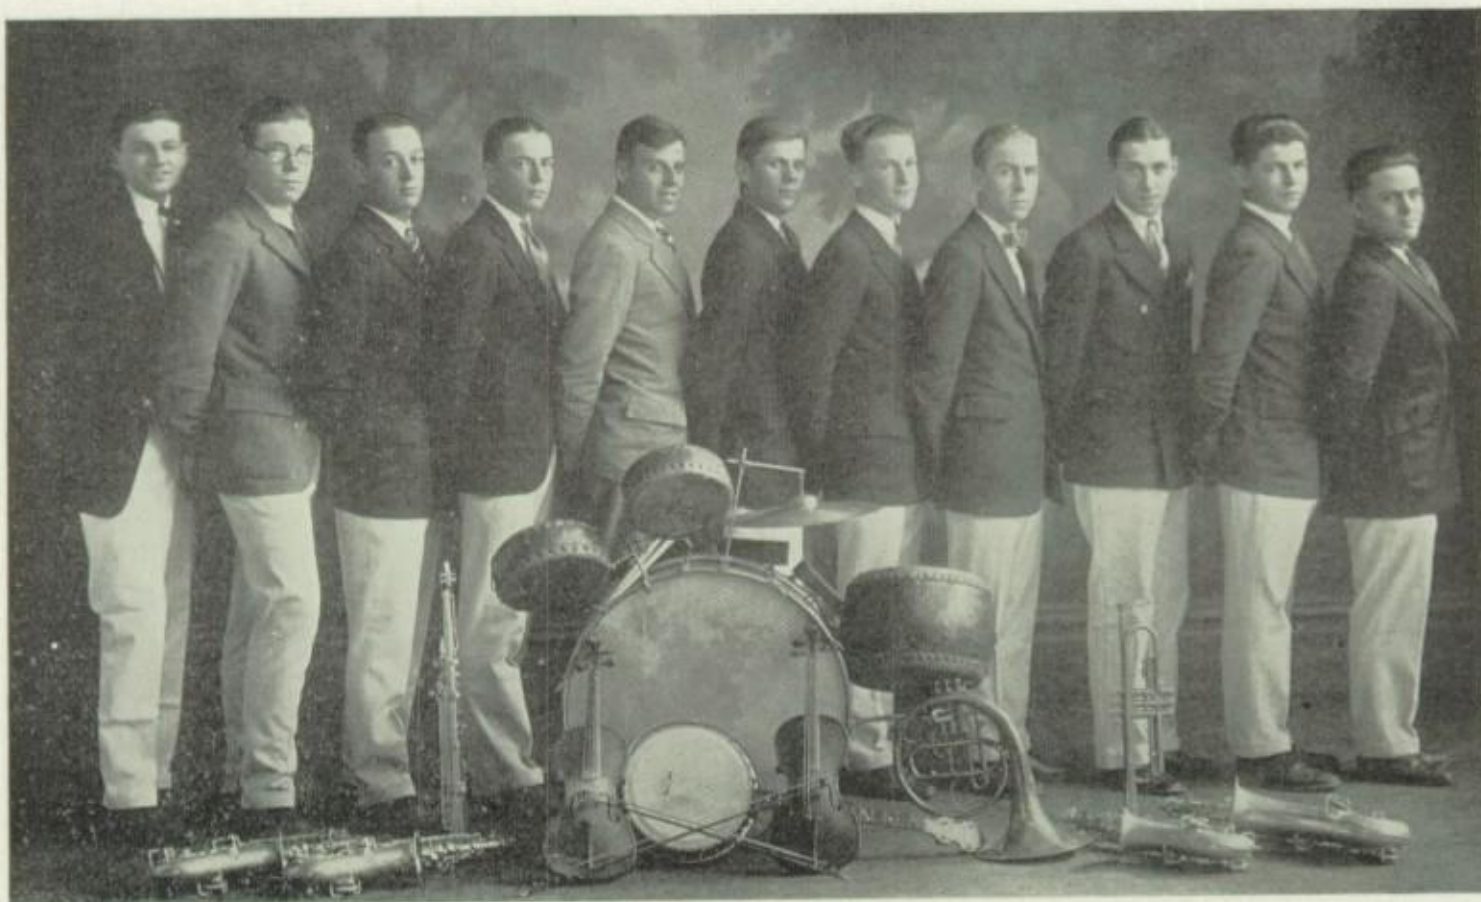

Misses Meade, Lesch, Rothbach
Misses Wheeler, Rasmussen, Sullivan, Royce

Office Force

VERY few realize the true value of the Office Force in the daily life of the Lowell High School. Miss June Sullivan, the school secretary, efficient, tactful, and ever ready with a kind word or smile, is the director of this group of volunteer workers. Her assistants for this term, chosen because of their general ability and good scholarship records, have been Mable Meade, Dorothy Wheeler, Bella Rothbach, Alice Lesch, and Marjorie Rasmussen. These girls have of their own accord and without recompense, devoted themselves loyally day after day to the service of the Lowell teachers and students. Under the supervision of Miss Sullivan, they have published the daily notices, compiled the office index, by the aid of which any student may be found at any hour of the day, taken charge of the scholarship records, answered the telephone, dispensed information and school supplies, and carried on the general clerical work of the school, without which efficient administration of school affairs would be impossible.

Bacigalupi, Gwinn, Harris (Manager), Dowdell, Ducato, Miller, Spiegelman, Jaegline, Falk, Butte, Koss

The Dance Orchestra

AT THE beginning of this term a problem had to be solved. There were only four members from last term's dance orchestra left in school. With the four veterans as a nucleus, a new ten piece orchestra was formed. Manager Perry Harris deserves a great deal of credit, for it was he who perfected our "Synco-Symphonists." By constant practice the Dance Orchestra rose from a mediocre group of embryo musicians, to an aggregation of stars.

The members of the orchestra have received no compensation for their services, but have given their time so that our dances would be successful. Without good music a dance is a failure. The orchestra also performed at rallies and other entertainments. The school certainly appreciates its work.

Each term the orchestra grows larger, numbering ten this semester. Harris performed satisfactorily on the banjo; Butte, Gwinn, Bacigalupi played "red hot" horns; Falk displayed talent with his melophone; Spiegelman and Miller handled the violins to perfection; Koss blew his trumpet faultlessly; Dowdell demonstrated his understanding of the traps; and last, but not least, Ducato continued to pound the keys.

The Cafeteria

HE time seems to have come when it can be said that Lowell students really appreciate their cafeteria. As most of you probably know, it is run on a profitless basis and offers a variety of pure, hot food of the best quality at a very reasonable price.

The cafeteria, which accommodates over two thousand students weekly, has maintained its high standard of efficiency and service under the capable supervision of Richard Nason, student manager. The cafeteria is under the supervision of Miss Lacoste and Miss Whelan who are establishing it upon a firmer basis than ever before.

Those in charge of the cafeteria are continually striving to give the students a greater variety of food for as reasonable a price as possible; and it must be said that they are succeeding, as the receipts show a slow but steady increase.

After visiting several high school cafeterias in the bay region, it was reported by a member of the faculty that Lowell served one of the best menus, and maintained the best equipped cafeteria of the several schools visited. Certainly Lowell should be, and is proud of such a decided asset and is looking forward to an even better cafeteria in the future.

Alumni Association

Fred Galbreath
President

As THE oldest high school in the city, Lowell has always had an outstanding alumni group, and each successive class adds its quota to those names already prominent in the business, professional, and social circles of San Francisco.

The real value of the Alumni Association has been demonstrated in the past in times of need when former Lowellites have come to the assistance of their Alma Mater in true Lowell fashion.

Two social events are held each year: a jinx in the spring and a dance in the fall. It is at these gatherings that the alumni have the opportunity of meeting old friends and also of making the acquaintance of recent graduates.

The officers of the association are chosen at a business meeting held just before the spring jinx. Fred Galbreath is leading the destinies of the group during the current year. Membership in the Lowell High School Alumni Association is regarded as a privilege by all those who belong to it, showing the great esteem in which the organization is held.

The Carbook Department

Jack Powers
Manager

EARLY in the spring of 1915, the Lowell Carbook Department had its beginning. Before that time those who needed carbooks were forced to apply at the McAlister Street Barns, but with the establishment of this department the students' demands were fulfilled at the school.

Under the capable management of Jack Powers, assisted by Kenneth Berry and George D. Hart, the Carbook Department this term became a great asset to the school. In fact, the said department sold approximately five hundred carbooks a week. The returns from the five-cent handling charge amounted to a profit of twenty-five dollars a week, or five hundred dollars for the term. It has been suggested that these profits be used for the establishment of a school library for the use of the students. Such a suggestion may be carried out in the near future and will be a great asset to the school.

The Carbook Department this term was open for business four times during the week, namely, Monday and Wednesday the fifth periods, and Tuesday and Thursday the sixth periods. These periods were found to be the most convenient for all concerned because they met the students' demands and also allowed the managing staff an opportunity to balance their books on Fridays. The staff was greatly aided by Miss Hodgkinson, who acted in the official capacity of faculty advisor.

The Carbook Department has done its work thoroughly and well, and we feel that the entire student body will join us in congratulating its management.

The Bank

Joseph Moore, Jr.
Manager

THE keynote to success is thrift! Such is the doctrine which the great men of all time have preached. With eyes toward the time when the present students at Lowell will profit by good habits formed in their youth, the California Trust Company has established for the past number of years, a banking system at Lowell High School, and a great many of us have availed ourselves of this opportunity to save our spare coins in order to be better prepared for a "rainy day."

This year the Bank was under the able supervision of Joe Moore. As a result of his persistent efforts, the bank had its most successful semester since its inception as a Lowell institution, for a great many new depositors were added, as a result of keeping the doctrines of saving and thrift before the general student body. As in past times the Bank is open on Monday the second period, and Friday the fifth and sixth periods, thus enabling all students to make deposits if they so desire.

Despite the unusual success enjoyed by this department this year, the officials hope for an even greater success next year, maintaining that students are daily becoming more and more desirous of saving their money for future use.

As assistants to Moore, William Hynes, George Hart, Jack Powers, and George Stiles proved exceptionally capable money handlers. Mr. Ludwig, of the California Trust Company, has acted as advisor, and has contributed a great deal to the success this term by assisting the student managers in their work.

The Biology Club

Harvey Jacobsen
President

COMPOSED of thirty students who are intensely interested in the principles of biological science, the Biology Club has done some very profitable work this semester.

A varied program which was run off without a single hitch, was the principal reason for the success of the organization. Several educational films were shown, one of which "Life at the Seashore," was especially valuable to the members from the standpoint of biology. Many observation trips have been made both to industrial plants and to places where data on natural science could be secured.

As faculty advisor, Mr. Jennings has worked very hard in the interest of the club, and no little credit should be given to him for his untiring efforts on its behalf.

Harvey Jacobsen, president; Fred Kramer, vice-president; and Gladys Zumwalt, secretary, made up a very capable set of officers.

The Music Club

Marcus Gordon
President

LOWELL'S Music Club has been in existence for several years; it was originally organized by Winthrop Sargeant, who later played second violin in the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. Those who appreciated good music enjoyed the meetings every other Monday, at which meetings programs were given by various members. The talent enrolled were often called upon to accompany and give selections for the benefit of the school at rallies and assemblies. The club was relied upon at any assembly with only musical numbers featuring. The Harmony II Class had charge of one program, presenting original compositions.

Under the leadership of an able staff of officers, Marcus Gordon, president, Maurine de Long, vice-president, Theodore Hensel, secretary, the membership increased steadily and a greater interest created in the members of the club.

The Stamp Club

Jack Voorsanger
President

ONE of Lowell's oldest organizations is the Stamp Club. It has been in existence for many years, during which its popularity has never waned, this fact accounting for its present active membership.

Assisted by the faculty advisor, Miss Lalande, the club has had a very successful season. It was made so by the many excellent programs presented and by the special activities which featured several meetings. The procedure included regular business, talks, or special features, and the stamp exchanging, the latter being generally the most interesting part of the activities.

The club particularly owes its success to its officers, namely: Jack Voorsanger, president; John Hannon, vice-president; and Ida Hirsch, secretary-treasurer.

Chess and Checker Club

Peter Manjos
President

THE Chess and Checker Club is the newest organization in the school. It was founded by Peter Manjos and Newton Simon, and held its first meetings early in the term. Its popularity is evident, judging from its membership of thirty-six students.

One of the activities of the term was a chess and checker tournament to determine the best player in the club. Another event was the playing of six simultaneous chess games by one player, Michael Melanikoff.

The club has been ably conducted by a capable staff of officers. These officers were: Peter Manjos, president; Lewis Baer, vice-president; William Sommer, secretary; and Robert Dryfus, treasurer. The club hopes for a brilliant future and welcomes all new members.

The Chemistry Club

Pauline Weed
President

DURING the semester of June '25, the ever-growing Chemistry Club enjoyed its third and so far most successful term. Interesting talks by members and outside speakers were among the many features of this growing club. Excursions were taken to different industrial plants and, during Boys' Week, the members went to the steel factory at Pittsburg, California.

Pauline Weed, as president, contributed no small share to the club members' entertainment. Peter Manjos held the office of vice-president. The secretary's position was filled very capably by Theodore Hansen.

However, the real secret of the club's success was due to the enthusiasm shown by Miss Silberstein, the faculty advisor.

Riding Club

Thomas Shulte
President

"A RIDING Club for Boys and Girls!" Most of the school was skeptical about the future of such an organization, but on its first ride, when twenty-three enthusiasts turned out, it proved as popular as any one of those firmly established at Lowell. With the election of officers: Tom Shulte, president; Virginia De Camp, vice-president; Frances Haseltine, secretary; and Margie Hamm, treasurer, the club was definitely organized. Regular meetings are not held but are called at the president's discretion. In these meetings the members decide at which Riding Academy they shall procure their horses and the day of the ride is determined. Lately, Saturday mornings have been the most popular time and most enjoyable rides are taken in the Park or along the beach.

This club is unique in that it is the only high school organization of its kind in the city and promises to become a prominent factor in the activities of Lowell.

Dramatics Club

Mable Meade
President

"I LOVE roses—they make such beautiful casket bouquets," said mournful Mrs. Lavender, and thereby assisted in the tremendous success of "Once in a Blue Moon." This operetta was chosen as the term production of the Dramatics Club, which combined its efforts with the two Glee Clubs for one of the best term plays that has been presented at Lowell. Mr. Polland worked steadily with the players for over three months and their clever presentation was the gratifying result of that labor. Three performances were held, one on the night of May twenty-eighth and two on the following day. And it was necessary to coach two casts to bear the strain.

These casts were as follows:

Moon Lady.....	CORINNE ATKIND, ISABELLE BOUICK
Mrs. Montgomery.....	FRANCES HASELTINE
Sylvia.....	SARAH ALPERT, ETHEL ROSEN
Leatrice.....	HELENE TURNER
Mr. Babbitt Morton.....	CURTIS

Mons. Rene Le Mon.....	JOSEPH SALOMON
Suzanne.....	BETTY CASTEGNETTO
Hop Sing Hi.....	WILLIAM SOMMERS

The Club's officers for this term are Mable Meade, president; Fannie Saloman, Secretary; Elise Tricou, Librarian.

Editorial

THE year of 1924-25 has, indeed, been one of unusual success for Lowell, both in athletics and in debating. When one looks back over the records of the fall of 1924, the Football, Weight Track, Swimming and Girls' Swimming Championships that have been brought to the home of the Red and White, while our debators easily defeated their rivals for the scholastic side of school activities, they must admit that the array of first places was most impressive. Then came the ushering in of a new year, and the question of whether Lowell would be capable of keeping up her wonderful record. To start the new semester right, the 130 and the 145 pound basketball teams took first places and two more victories were added to the list; and towards the latter part of the term, the Unlimited Track Team, the Unlimited Crew, the 145-pound Crew, the Swimming and Tennis Teams all "brought home the bacon"; not to mention Girls' Crew and Girls' Swimming, who, not to be outdone by their masculine brothers, rowed and swam to victories, and the debators once again took first place, thus closing an even more successful term than the one previous. The total number of championships in actual figures are fourteen out of a possible twenty, while our nearest rival, Polytechnic, was next with the total of three out of twenty. By these statistics one may judge, in a small measure, the wonderful year Lowell has just ended.

Now just what is the cause of this success in all lines of activities? Is it that the type of boy and girl that is attending school now is superior to that of a few years ago when Lowell simply won her share of the titles, or is it that the persons who composed these teams were all veterans and know what the general idea was about, or again, is it that, after the Football Team blazed the trail, the other teams found it easier to follow, and felt it their duty to add to the string of victories? Of all the three, the latter seems the most logical, for that wonderful thing known as "Lowell Spirit" was revived by our Football Championship, and all the other teams put it into practice with astonishing results.

But no matter what reason is at the bottom of all this prosperity the cups reside at Lowell, fourteen new ones, and we may say that this has certainly been a "Cardinal year."

The Lowell

Wagner d'Alessio
Editor, The Lowell

LOWELL'S reputation has been very capably upheld this term because of the standards adhered to by "The Lowell." Under the leadership of Wagner d'Alessio, who proved himself one of the most efficient and enterprising editors yet to conduct the school paper, a model publication was issued, each new edition bringing with it many new and entertaining features.

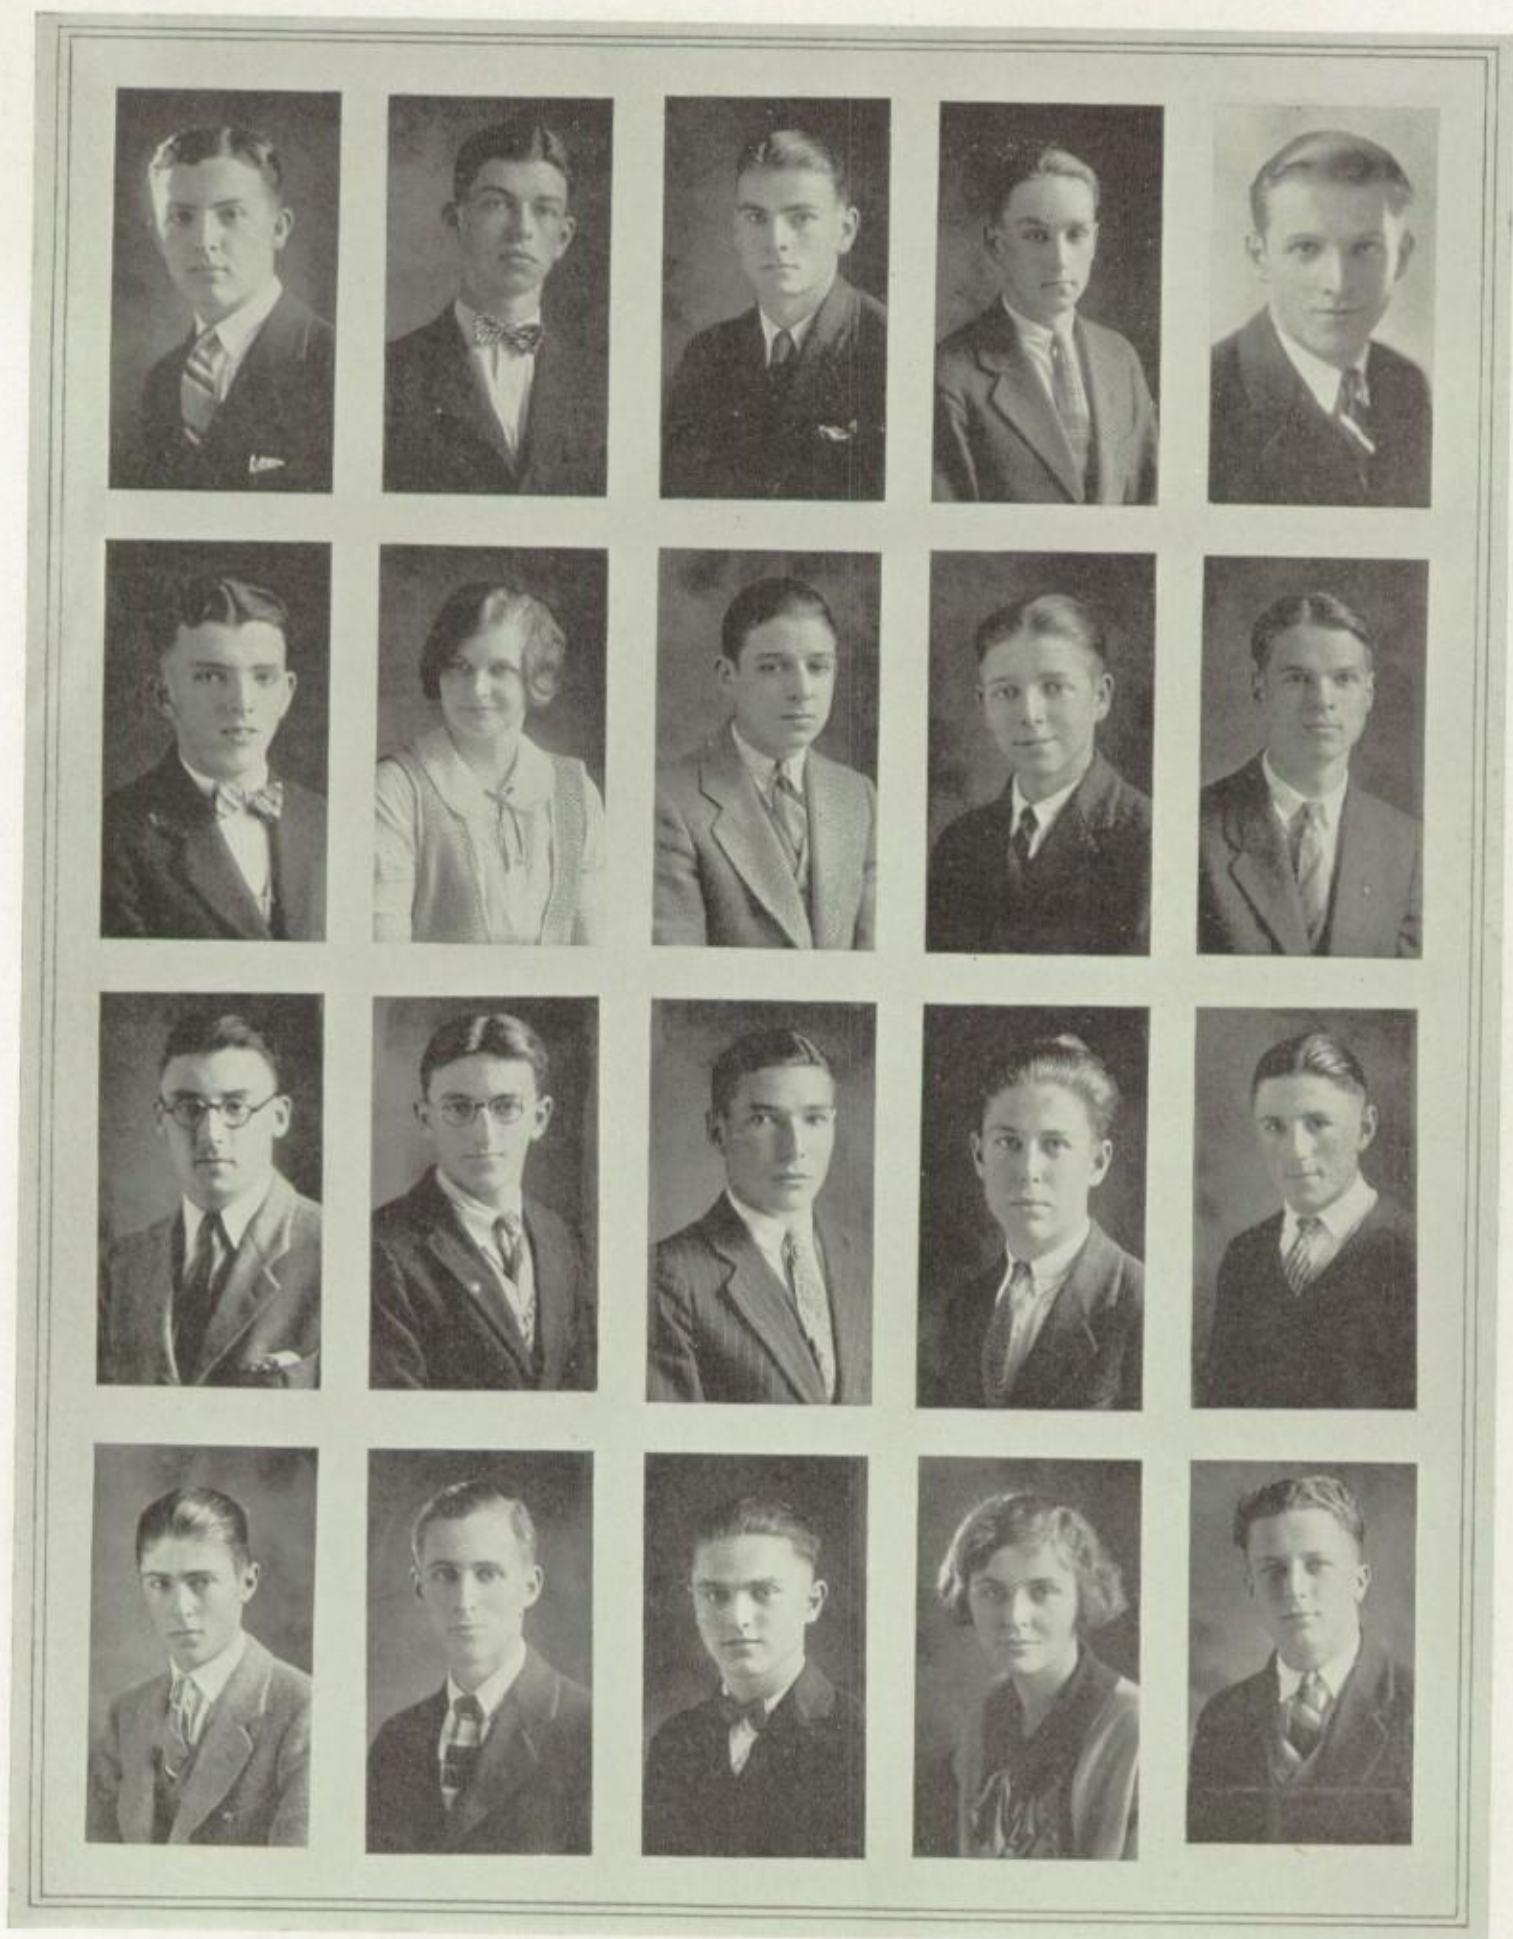

The outstanding work of this semester was the sixteen page anniversary issue of April 30th, which contained articles by prominent alumni for the past twenty-seven years, reminiscences by teachers and former principals, histories and personal notes about old Lowell celebrities, complete histories of all scholastic and athletic activities dating from the founding of Lowell to the present time, and illustrations of the various homes of the school.

Many new writers made their appearance on the staff this term, although several of already established ability continued to give their services. Under d'Alessio as associates were Lauren Franchi, Edward Lees, Robeson Smith, and Kenneth Berry, and the department heads included Lionel Houser, news editor, Stanley Breyer, who handled organizations very capably, Dorothy Brown, in charge of girls' news, Jack Mail, feature writer, and Robert McGrouther, who took care of all art work.

Taken as a whole, "The Lowell" this term may be said to have equalled, if not bettered, any school publication put out during past semesters. The co-operation of the staff and editor and the assistance of Miss A. V. Barrett, faculty advisor, were responsible for the success of the paper.

The financial end was ably upheld by George Hart and his assistants.

MILITARY

The Lowell R. O. T. C.

THE Lowell Battalion Junior R. O. T. C. is the largest battalion of uniformed men in the High Schools of California. Comprised of well over four hundred men, this battalion holds an enviable position in city and state military affairs.

The battalion consists of five full companies of uniformed and well drilled men and it is officered by a most efficient and capable staff of officers.

During the term a merit system was introduced into the workings of the organization and it resulted in a great increase of proficiency in the battalion affairs. Too much credit cannot be given to Captain Flexenhar and Cadet Major Howlett, the originators of this system.

A picked platoon from the unit took part in the annual May Day Drill and, although it did not win, it deserves much credit for the splendid fight it put up. The entire battalion turned out for the Boys' Week parade and made a very creditable showing.

Captain Flexenhar and Sergeant Green have worked hard to perfect the drill of the unit and any success that the unit achieved can either be traced directly or indirectly to their guiding hands.

An officers' dinner was held and it was one of the most successful ever staged by the officers of the battalion.

Officers and Sergeants' Club

WING to the increase of officers in the R. O. T. C. this term, the Officers and Sergeants' Club has grown in both number and efficiency. In all, there are thirty officers as members, as well as twenty or more sergeants that also belong. Under the guidance of Captain Flexenhar and the president of the club, Major Frank Howlett, on Wednesday, the sixth period, the club meets and thoroughly works out in detail the battalion drill that is to take place the eighth period of that day. This discussion by the club of the drill that is to take place in the yard, acquaints every officer with the necessary details so that he may be ready to carry out his commands with efficiency.

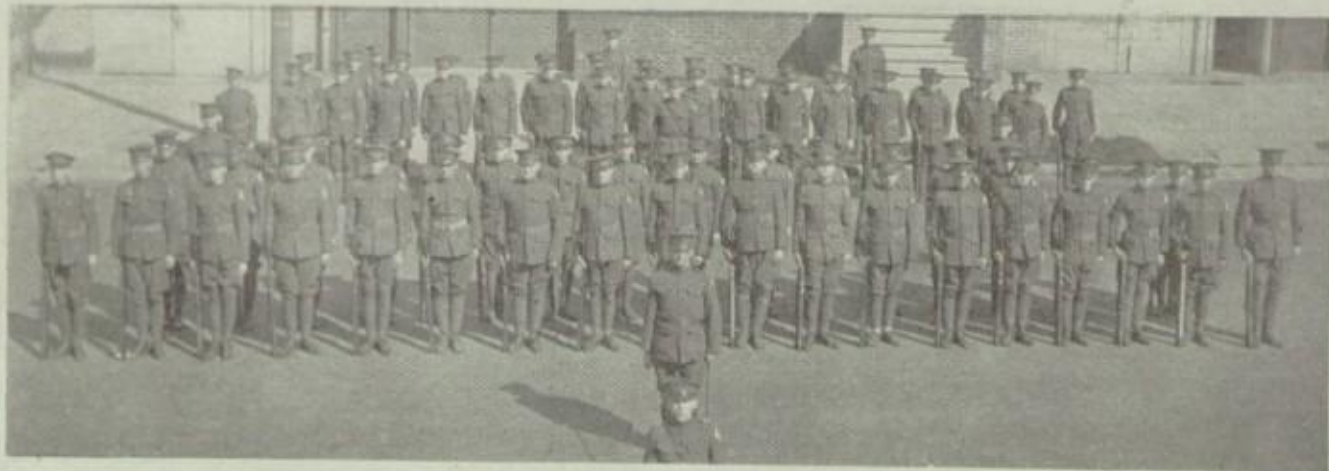

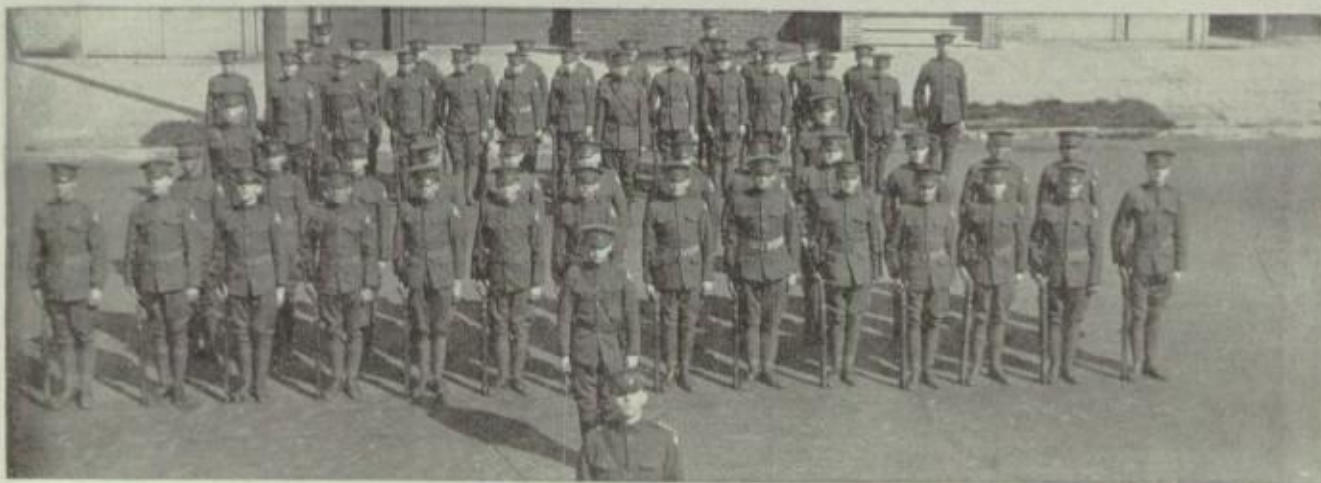

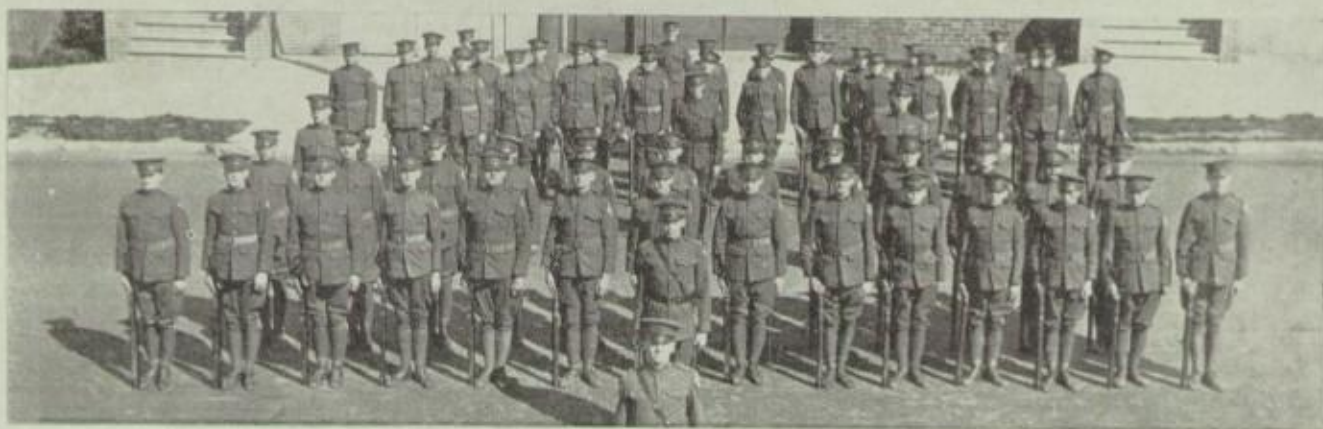

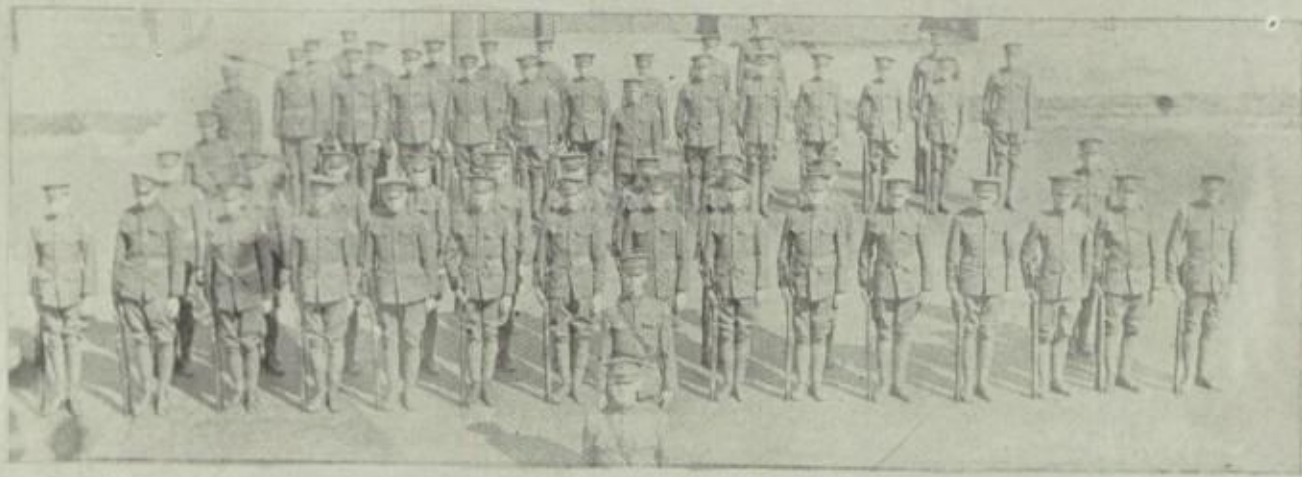

As the main executive body of the R. O. T. C., the club has its regular business of seeing that the rules of the military department are carried out in full. The officers and sergeants, therefore, are responsible for the conduct of the members of the R. O. T. C., the faithful performance of their work, and for the maintenance of the morale of the cadet group.

The club was well represented at the Auditorium on the night of the annual competitive drill, and was well pleased with the showing that the cadets made for Lowell. Captain Samuels led the drill platoon to a second place, performing his duty well and receiving the congratulations of the members of Lowell. The men in the platoon deserve a great deal of credit in the way they conducted themselves, the platoon barely missing the decision for first place. The band, under the direction of Paul Koss, and the leadership of Drum Major Lippitt, made a fine showing.

The club acts not only as an executive body, but also has its fling at pleasure. The officers' dance held on the evening of June sixth, was a great success, as was also the officers' dinner.

The officers of the Officers and Sergeants' Club are Major Frank Howlett, president; Captain Kenneth Berry, vice-president; and Lieutenant Milton Schroeder, secretary.

The Rifle Team

LTHOUGH it is not a new organization in the school, the rifle team first came into prominence during this semester.

Under the capable leadership of Captain H. J. Flexenhar, the team members made rapid advancement in their scores; with the Hearst Trophy and the cup for the team making the best score in San Francisco as their coveted ambitions. The members practiced diligently three to four times a week. As a result of the constant practice a third place was awarded to the team for its ranking in this city. Captain Adams, of this school, won first place for the best individual score, with an excellent three hundred and fifty, while Lieutenant Schroeder took fifth place among the contestants.

The team was entirely composed of R. O. T. C. officers and sergeants, these members including Taylor (captain), Soares, Schroeder, Adams, Peterson, Lindermeier and Silbers.

Organized Rooting

ESPIE the fact that the spring term is considered the slack time for rooting, Lowell's organized yelling has been slowly but surely progressing. There has been very little support given the yell leaders at the baseball games this year due to the poor attendance. Despite this handicap the yell leader, Robert Taylor, and his very efficient assistants, Vernon Kimball and Jack McNamara, managed to build up an excellent rooting section.

At the Boys' Day Parade white hats and red sashes were issued, and due to the unswerving support of the student body, the cup for the most efficient rooting section was won by Lowell for the second consecutive time.

At the rallies and debates very good support by the students has enabled the yell leaders to make cheering an attraction and a benefit to the school and to the student body itself.

Unlimited Track

Captain George Baker
who won both the mile and the half-mile and placed in the javelin, and who lead an inexperienced team to a championship

IN the minds of both high school students and the public in general, the popularity of track has rapidly advanced during the past years. With the moral support of the whole student body behind him, Coach Harlan Dykes set out, at the beginning of the season, to accomplish what very few coaches even hope to do, namely, to develop a championship team out of entirely new material.

At first the task seemed hopeless, with Captain George Baker as the only veteran point winner of last year's squad, but Coach Dykes realized that only hard and earnest work would turn out a team that would be worthy of wearing the Red and White, so every afternoon for two months found the coach at the Park stadium, at first patiently teaching the men the fundamentals of track work and later on some of the finer points. Because of the dearth of material, it was necessary to get more men out, so an Inter-R. O. T. C. Gymnasium Track Meet was held, in which more than eight hundred enthusiastic boys competed. Out of this monstrous track meet, Coach Dykes found several promising athletes, and immediately put these to work with the rest of the squad.

In the middle of April things looked rather dark for the Cardinals, for the various other teams in the city appeared stronger in almost every event than did the Lowell group. But here the "old Lowell spirit" was put to practice, and the surprising scores made by other high schools simply made the Lowell boys work harder.

Realizing that whatever material he had must be kept quiet, Coach Dykes made no effort to obtain track meets with outside schools, but instead took the team down to Stanford on several different Saturdays, where, with the good Stanford Oval and the balmy climate to aid them, the Cardinal Squad rapidly rounded into form. It was generally realized that we had a fighting chance for the championship, and on May the sixteenth the Redshirts determined to make good that lone chance. And with what result?

Starting off with a victory in the quarter mile in the morning, the wearers of the Red and White literally fought their way to places in every event they were entered in, and as the sun slowly sank over the trees surrounding the beautiful new Kezar Stadium, the score board read: Lowell, 56; Polytechnic, 47; Mission, 26; Lick-Wilmerding, 15; Commerce, 6; Galileo, 3; and Cogswell, 1; and another seemingly impossible championship was brought to Lowell.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP UNLIMITED TRACK TEAM

Statement of Captain Baker

The Unlimited Track Team of 1925 is but another example of true Lowell spirit asserting itself. A group of hard workers, given loyal support by an entire student body, could result in nothing less than a championship.

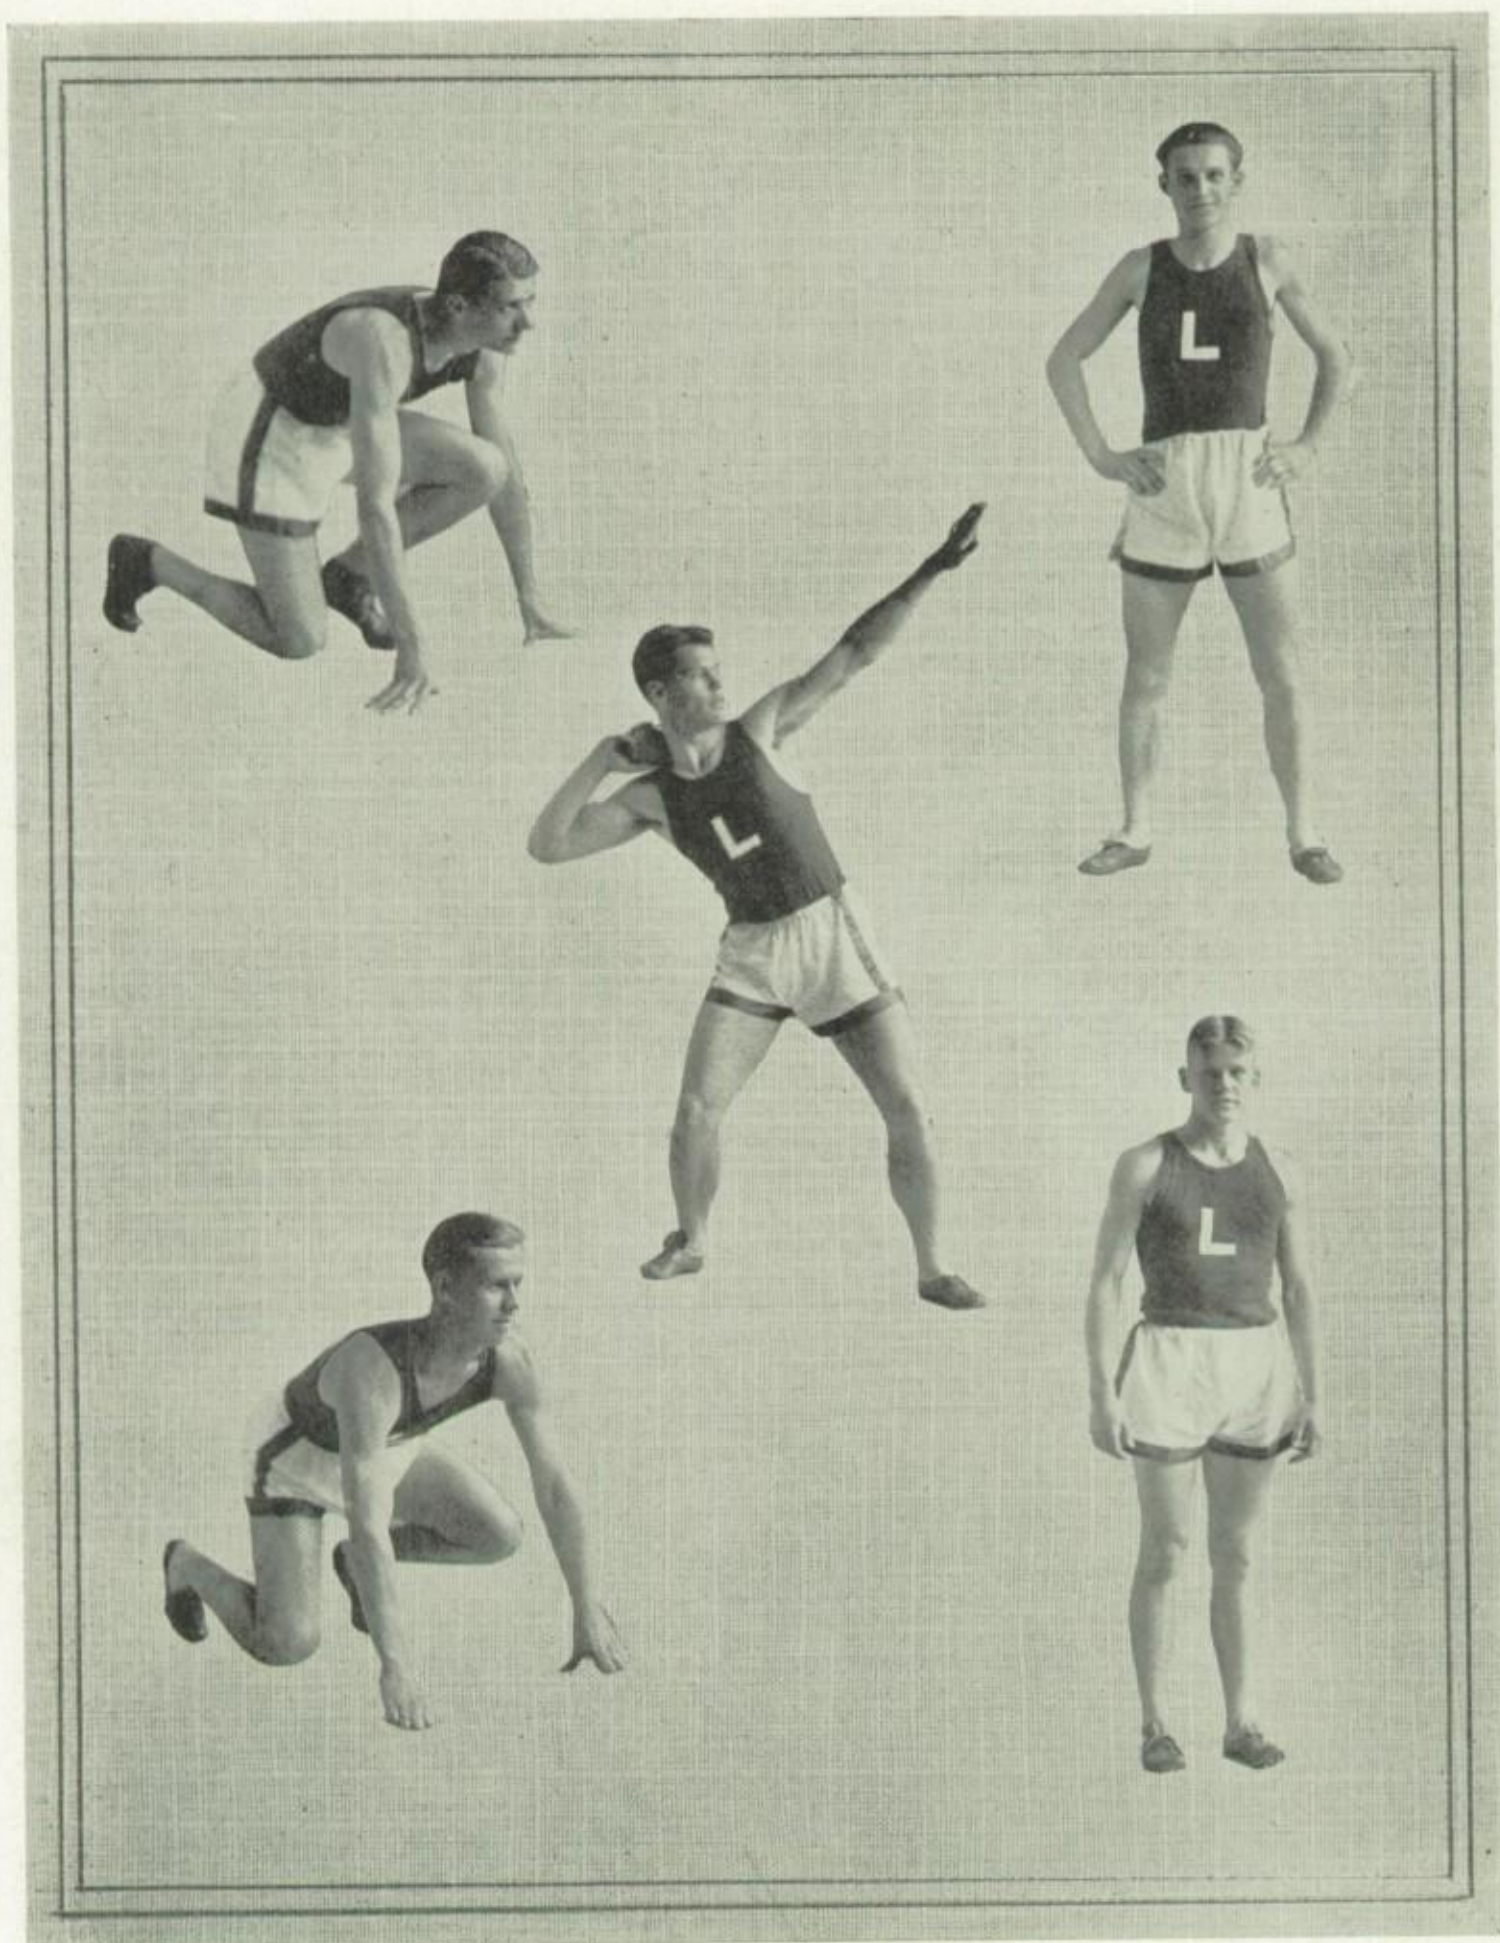

Coach Harlan Dykes

*Statement of
Coach Dykes*

Take a group of men with the best scholarship average of any team within the last three years; add to that the last word in faithfulness, willingness to learn, and good sportsmanship, and you have the Championship Track Team of 1925. Even though untried, men like that are a pleasure to work with. They are always potential winners in the game of life as well as on the athletic field.

Baseball

LESPITE the fact that no championship was won, Lowell can this year boast of having put a real baseball team upon the field, for in all instances the Red and White "ball tossers" acquitted themselves honorably and brought more glory to their Alma Mater. The team this season was under the guiding hand of "Mike Voyne, who attempted to bring the Cardinal out of its baseball lethargy in much the same manner that he brought it out of its football dormancy, again proved successful, even though no championship was won, for his underlings firmly established themselves as the season's wrecking crew.

Voyne indorsed the policy of practice and plenty of it, especially in the form of games, and thus the team engaged in many pre-season tests. The first of these, against Oakland Tech after the team had engaged in but two days' practice, resulted in a defeat by a 6-3 score. However, the boys were undaunted and as a result we find them taking their next encounter by overwhelming Fremont High to the extent that after the last batter had been disposed the Red and White was found to have amassed a total of eleven markers as compared to their opponent's zero.

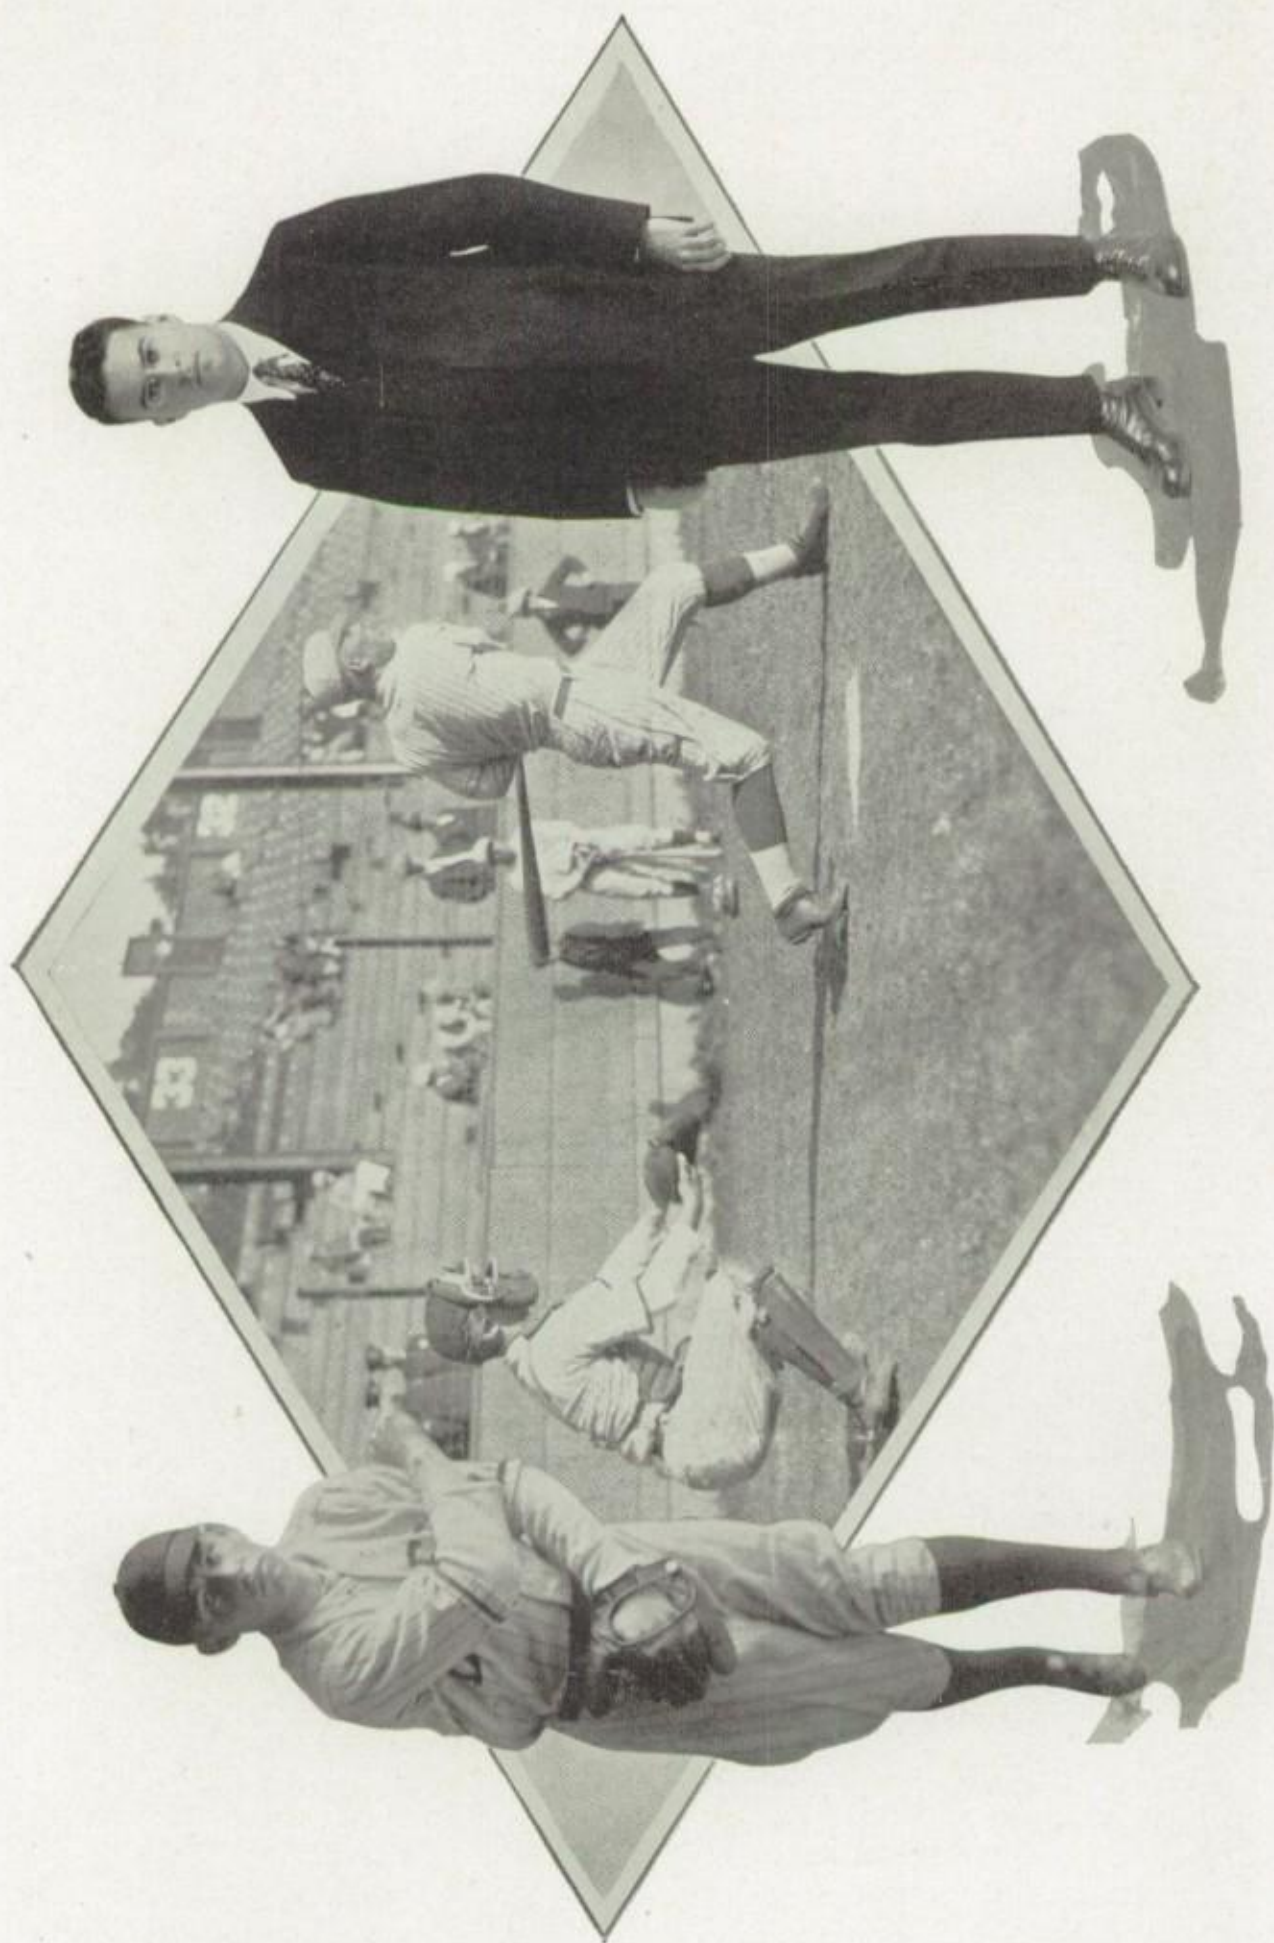

"Mike" took his yearlings over to St. Marys, where the young Saints were successful in beating them by a 2-1 score. There was some question as to a decision in this encounter, however, which if it had been reversed would have turned the tide from a one run defeat to a one run victory.

Following in rapid order first William Warren and then Mount Tamalpais Military Academy were handed defeats, the former by a 4-2 score and the latter by a 4-3 total, while during the interval between encounters with recognized high schools, soldiers' teams from the Presidio were opposed and in numerous cases defeated.

As a result of all these games, the players affected a cleverness in team work which later manifested itself in the league games, and proved very advantageous. They were also able to gain some valuable practical experience, and so by the time the opening game of the S. F. A. L. came around they were "rearing to go." This, they decidedly proved by handing the Cogswell representatives a 23-1 defeat in a game which resolved itself from the first inning into a slugfest for the Red and White players. In this game "Mike" used every player on the squad, and, as the score indicates, every individual responded gallantly.

The next game against Galileo was not doped to be a hard fought one by the critics, but they had failed to rate the Lowell team high enough, as the Cardinals decisively proved when they downed the Purple and Gold tossers by a 13-0 score. In this game, as in the previous one, Coach Voyne used a great many of his substitutes and once again everyone responded to the tune of basehits.

Coach Michael Voyne

Captain Fritz Badger

The Baseball Squad

With two such overwhelming victories as their early potion, the team entered the Lick-Wilmerding fracas as the favorites, but once again the dope was upset for Voyne's charges suffered a complete reversal of form and could not field or catch the ball. On the other hand, the Lick team displayed the best baseball it had shown up to that time and this, coupled with their opponents' bad plays, enabled them to take the game by a 10-5 count.

The next opponents faced were the Potter representatives, which team went home in much the same manner as the majority of its predecessors, for it suffered a defeat, this time the Cardinals winning by a 18-4 score. In this encounter, as in the first two league games, Coach Voyne used all of the men he had on the bench, and once again the boys responded with a deluge of basehits, for they were no longer suffering from the slump which had caused their previous downfall.

Because of the employment of the two division system in running off the games, the team did not meet Polytechnic's varsity, for that team was in the opposite division.

The Baseball Squad

Probably one of the outstanding accomplishments of this season was the schooling of the men who will be eligible for competition next year. Coach Voyne, realizing that championship teams are not built overnight, spent a great deal of time and effort in developing these boys in order that Lowell's next year representatives might have some seasoned material as a nucleus. With this latter particular in mind, he injected substitutes into the fray whenever possible and even went to the extreme procedure of obtaining a game for his next year's yearlings against a like team from Tamalpais Union High, which game resulted in an overwhelming 17-4 Cardinal victory.

Thus, despite the loss of a number of this year's first team, indications point to an even more successful season next year.

The Swimming Team

whose diving and plunging were the features of the meet, and whose popular leadership proved to be one of the main factors in winning the fortieth consecutive championship.

ALMOST two decades ago a team of natatorial artists wearing the cardinal colors paddled their way to a hard-earned victory over the other schools of the city, innocently starting something which, as yet, has remained unfinished during nineteen consecutive years of zealous striving on the part of the much-offended rivals of the Red and White. As Coach Matthews most aptly put it: "The tendency of the Lowell mermen to triumph consistently in all aquatic endeavors can no longer be termed a tendency, but it has actually developed serious complications and must be considered within the scope of biological phenomena—a habit!" Let us hope that the "complication" of habitually winning S. F. A. L. swimming meets is as serious as Coach Matthews believes it to be. Our mentor goes even further and points out that under his tutelage the Lowell swimmers have made an auspicious beginning toward the formation of another worthy habit—that of winning the A. A. U. national high school relay and the accompanying silverware.

On Saturday, May 23, after a strenuous and successful practice season, the Cardinals, under the leadership of Captain Joe Smith, went through the sordid formality of administering to their aquatic rivals their 39th regular semi-annual drubbing. All this, despite the predictions of the press that the highly-touted laurels of the Red and White were at last due to be lowered from their height. In the S. F. A. L. meet our champions of nineteen years' standing succeeded in their purpose to the extent of amassing 64 points, a total slightly in excess of the aggregate score of the other six schools competing.

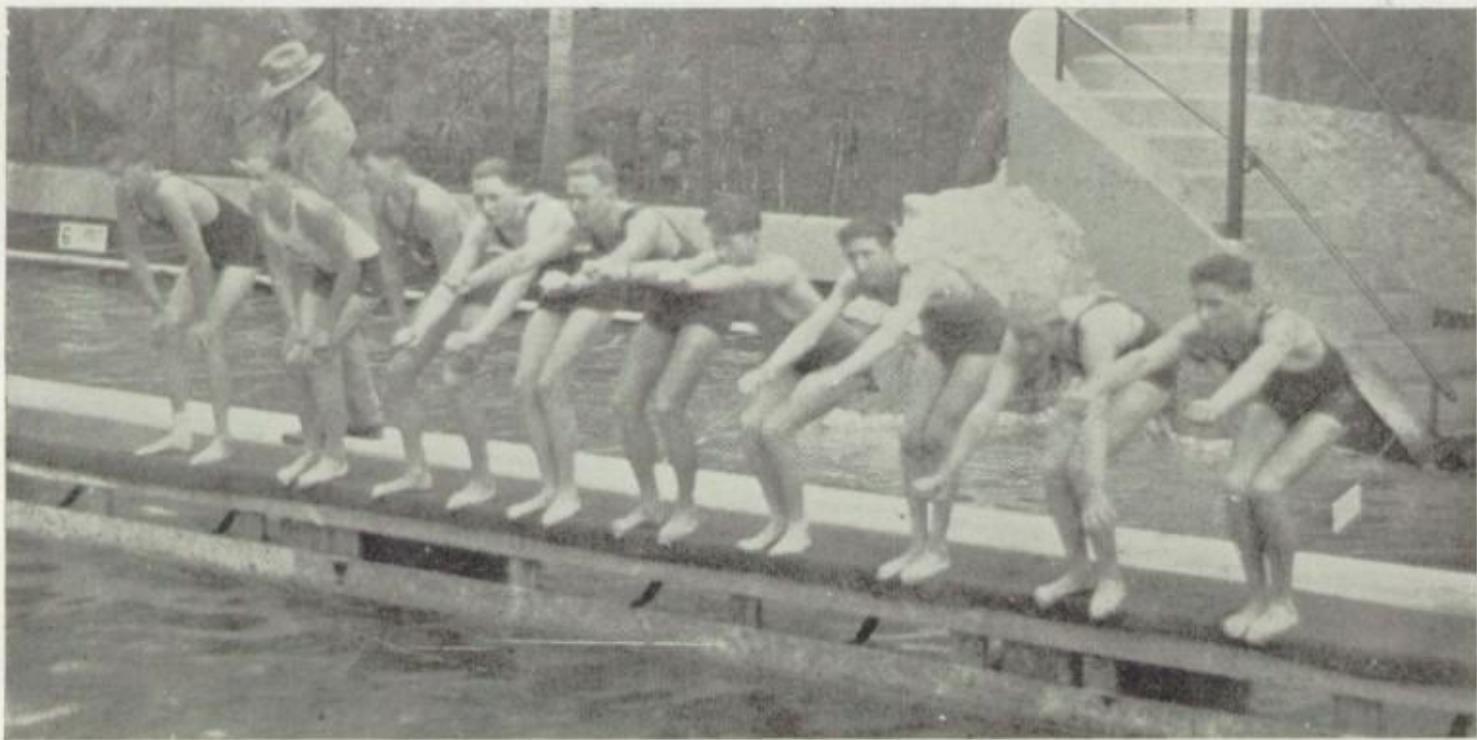

Tow Wilkinson started the meet off in good old Lowell fashion when he captured the 50-yard free style race, showing too much class for his opponents all the way. Later he came back to score five points more in the 100-yard event. Old reliable "Duke" Ducato duplicated Wilkinson's point-scoring feat by taking first in both the 220 and 440. These two men also swam on the winning relay team which equalled the S. F. A. L.

record. Captain Joe Smith took a second in the plunge and a third in the diving, while Carroll was barely nosed out in the 50-yard backstroke after leading throughout the entire race. Saunders, a newcomer to the swimming team, surprised by copping the 100-yard breaststroke in good time. In the 130-pound class, Webster, McLean and Medau contributed their quota to the point column.

SO MANY teams have attributed lack of success to that well known "bogey" Hard Luck, that to point fingers of accusation at him again may seem a breach of nicety of discrimination. However, we must exhume the old boy once more. For it was due to hard luck and only to hard luck, that our fighting Unlimited Basketball Team failed to clutch laurels deservedly theirs.

Had Captain Joe Smith, backbone of the defense, not been stricken with influenza two days before the Galileo game for the division A title, even cynics will admit that Lowell would have carried off the contest in true Red and White fashion. But, with a first team guard out, the system of play that Coach Dykes had perfected seemed to go up in smoke and with the sounding of the final gun the taunting scoreboard read Galileo 23, Lowell 22.

However, the folly of crying over spilt milk is so obvious a truism that it is better that we all turn to regard what success the team did achieve.

It is not a little consolation to think that Lowell succeeded in getting second place, which, in view of the fact that eight schools were entered, is not half so bad after all. In doing this the team defeated Cogswell and St. Ignatius, and finally, due to the lateness of the season, tossed a coin with Lick-Wilmerding, division B champs, for second honors.

In the Cogswell game the boys got off to a slow start and half time found them leading by but 9 to 6. However, in the latter part of the contest, Coach Dykes' system functioned without blemish and the team romped home with the game by a score of 17-9. Captain Joe Smith and "Hilo" Vredenburg did well on the defense, while Harold Hope and "Clam" Baker at center operated neatly in the offensive, the latter proving to be high point man of the day.

On March 15 at the Young Men's Institute the team met an old basketball rival in St. Ignatius, and, despite the fact that since the Galileo defeat the boys had dropped basketball practice to prepare for baseball and track, "they came, they saw, they conquered."

The score of 23-24 isn't sufficiently indicative of the ease with which the team came out on top—and this one-sidedness, coupled with an almost total absence of rooters, served to make the game more or less dull. Hanlon, St. Ignatius center, temporarily aroused interest by three consecutive shots from center in the closing minutes of the game, but this rally on the part of the Catholics was short lived.

Johnny Valianos and "Snookie" Schuppert functioned well together at the forward positions, Valionas executing some nice shots and dribbling rushes, while Schuppert sank some neat backboard shots under the basket. As usual, "Clam" Baker, who stars in basketball as well as in track, was high scorer. Joe Smith and "Fritz" Badger held up the defensive end of the game creditably.

Coach Harlan Dykes deserves worlds of credit for the basketball success experienced by Lowell this time—two firsts and one second being the sum fruition of his efforts.

His system, which varies the five man defense with the criss-cross offense, worked better this year than ever before, for many of the players had been drilled with it in preceding years.

As mentioned above, Dykes was largely responsible for our achieving of two titles, and only two factors outside of hard luck in general prevented us from getting all three—namely, poverty of material and an inadequate practice court.

Speaking of material, only two veterans had been left over from the '24 unlimited team and Coach Dykes had to build a team around these men with only green material to choose from. Then, as regards our practice court, we need only mention its cramped size and the bad effect of its low ceiling on the shooting ability of the players to show what a perpetual handicap it was.

Indication in general, however, point to a successful season next spring. Although but two veterans will be on hand—namely Schuppert and Laff—strong reinforcements will come up from the weight teams in the persons of Lucky, Gough, Solari, Dieudonne, Franchi and others.

Poly, who, it is well known, studiously avoided the S. F. A. L. basketball series this year, expects to beat us by the time the 1926 season rolls around.

But we'll be prepared, well prepared for them. For good material, good coaching and good student body support is assured. Let the cry then be: "Up and at 'em Lowell, and don't stop until the championship is ours!"

The Unlimited Crew

ISTORY repeats itself! So reads an ancient saying which has since time immemorial, been applied to the Lowell swimming teams and which now may be applied to the other S. F. A. L. aquatic sport, for once again has the Red and White been returned the victor in the unlimited crew race, this making the Cardinals' third consecutive win in this event.

This victory can be attributed to success in effecting the age old Lowell standby, for as in all other Lowell wins, team work was the factor causing success. The boys were forced to go down and practice every day under the guiding hand of Jimmy Montgomery who, incidentally, has coached all three of the Cardinal winners. They were aided, however, by two practice races—one against Roosevelt High and the other against Fremont High, both of which resulted in Lowell victories.

As a result of this diligent and concentrated effort they succeeded in accomplishing an almost impossible feat, for they were able to cover the one and a half mile course in the official S. F. A. L. meet in 5 minutes and 40 seconds, and thus were able not alone to win the event, but to break by almost two full minutes the existing record of 7 minutes and 36 seconds, which the 1924 championship Lowell crew had established. Their mark, incidentally, also bettered the existing world's record for High School cutters rowing over the one and a half mile course. However, this record was not accepted by the officials of the regatta, for they claimed that the wind at the back of the rowers assisted them a great deal. Another added feature of this victory was that Polytechnic crew, which finished second, was 15 lengths behind the victors.

The greatest amount of credit for this great victory must go to Coach and Captain Jimmy Montgomery. He clearly demonstrated his ability as a leader and teacher of crew tactics, for by his untiring efforts, the Red and White was able to boast of an almost superhuman crew.

Tennis

THE Lowell tennis team is confident of annexing their third straight championship when the S. F. A. L. tourney starts on Monday, June 1. Having gone through a stiff practice season with but one defeat, they are tuned up to the crucial test of the year when they meet representatives of the other high schools in the annual tournament at Golden Gate Park.

In the preliminary season, Lowell overwhelmed Berkeley High seven matches to nothing; they defeated Stockton High, four to one; and fighting gamely, lost to the powerful California Freshmen by a score of six to one.

The team this year has three veterans and a former substitute as a nucleus, and challenge matches to determine the school rankings uncovered a great deal of promising material, so the complete team of six was made up without much difficulty. Captain John Wheatley, holder of the doubles title and runner-up in the singles, is determined upon winning both this year, and should do so, unless his team-mate, Bobbie Seller, beats him out. Seller, in four years at Lowell, has not lost a match; he holds the singles and doubles titles, and is out to repeat. He is counted on for a sure first place, and it is possible that he will get both. The substitute berth for the unlimiteds is held down by Seaton Bias, who plays a steady, dependable game. He won his matches on the trips in great style.

The weight division has in Scott Stewart a brilliant player of great promise, who last year was runner up in the singles and won the doubles. He is out to win both this year, and it will take great playing to stop him. Herbert Knudsen, who last year was a lowly sub, has improved to such an extent that he now holds down a berth on the team. He and Stewart should be able to win the doubles for us. The weight team has a capable substitute in the person of Russell Thomas, a newcomer on the team. Johnny Mathew, "our" coach, helped the boys along all season, and will probably have another championship to his credit.

OLF, like crew, is a new sport at Lowell, and as yet has failed to attract any substantial support from the student body. However, the remarkable showing made by the team in this year's tournament was only made possible by a lot of hard work on the part of the determined fellows who came out and trained faithfully. Mr. Voyne deserves special mention for the conscientious coaching which he did all season. Taken as a whole, we might say that the season was very successful, but the fact that Sacred Heart won the championship somewhat detracts from its glory. Nevertheless, there are years to come and next season we'll stand a good chance for the championship, losing but one veteran through graduation.

An inter-room tournament held early in the term was followed by an inter-class, and these matches gave Voyne an idea who would be picked to represent Lowell in the dual matches and also served as a basis of selection for the regular team.

On April 12, the team played San Rafael High School and, handicapped by playing on an unfamiliar course, lost four to one. Despite the fact that Charles Helganz, California Junior State Champion, had a 72, he was unable to win.

A week later on the morning of April 19, a dual match with Tamalpais was held and resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Red and White, winning five out of six matches. Captain Helganz, Dave McKell, Bob Mercure, and James Binns completed the team that made the trip.

The Tamalpais golfers were not satisfied with one defeat, but arranged a return match and were again defeated, four to two.

Sacred Heart, with three phenomenal golfers on the field, was easily figured to win the S. F. A. L., and the outcome of the tournament on May 10 at the Municipal Golf Links did not upset the dope. Handicapped by the loss of two of their best men, Captain Charles Helganz and George McDaniels, who were not signed up because of studies, the team composed of James Binns, Ted Lees, Dick O'Brien, Edgar Linder and Dick Erlin, came in second to the Saints. The latter team scored 295 to Lowell's 326. Polytechnic came in third, only one stroke behind Lowell, and Cogswell fourth, one stroke behind Polytechnic. Ted Lees held the lowest score for the Lowellites with an even eighty. James Binns and Ed Linder each had an eighty-one and Dick Erlin trailed close behind with an eighty-four.

The 145-Pound Basketball Team

Captain Harold Brown
who led a fighting team to a well earned championship.

EMULATING the success of their brothers, the Lowell 145-pound basketball team was victorious in its division, and so upheld one end of the Red and White twin basketball victory.

Starting the season with a number of veterans, the team fast rounded into shape, culminating a strenuous practice season by a decisive win over the Tamalpais Union High School unlimiteds. Due to the fact that none of the country schools boasted of 45's, our welterweights were unable to get any practice games, save the Tamalpais encounter and a game against the Petaluma heavies in which our 45's played one half of the game and our unlimiteds the other half.

Thus it was that the team was considered somewhat of a dark horse in the S. F. A. L., but it soon dispelled all doubts as to its prowess by administering a severe beating to Mission High representatives by a 48-8 score. This game was never in doubt for from the very outset it was apparent that the superior teamwork of the Red and White boys would give them an easy victory.

After taking their first game by such an overwhelming score, the team seemingly became a little overconfident, and the tide turned in the Commerce-Lowell game, for at the final whistle the Blue and White boys were found leading by a 24-20 score.

Their defeat, however, worked wonders with the members of the team, and they renewed their efforts with a greater vim than ever, so that they were able to defeat, by an 18-10 score, the Ignatius team, which was at that time leading the league.

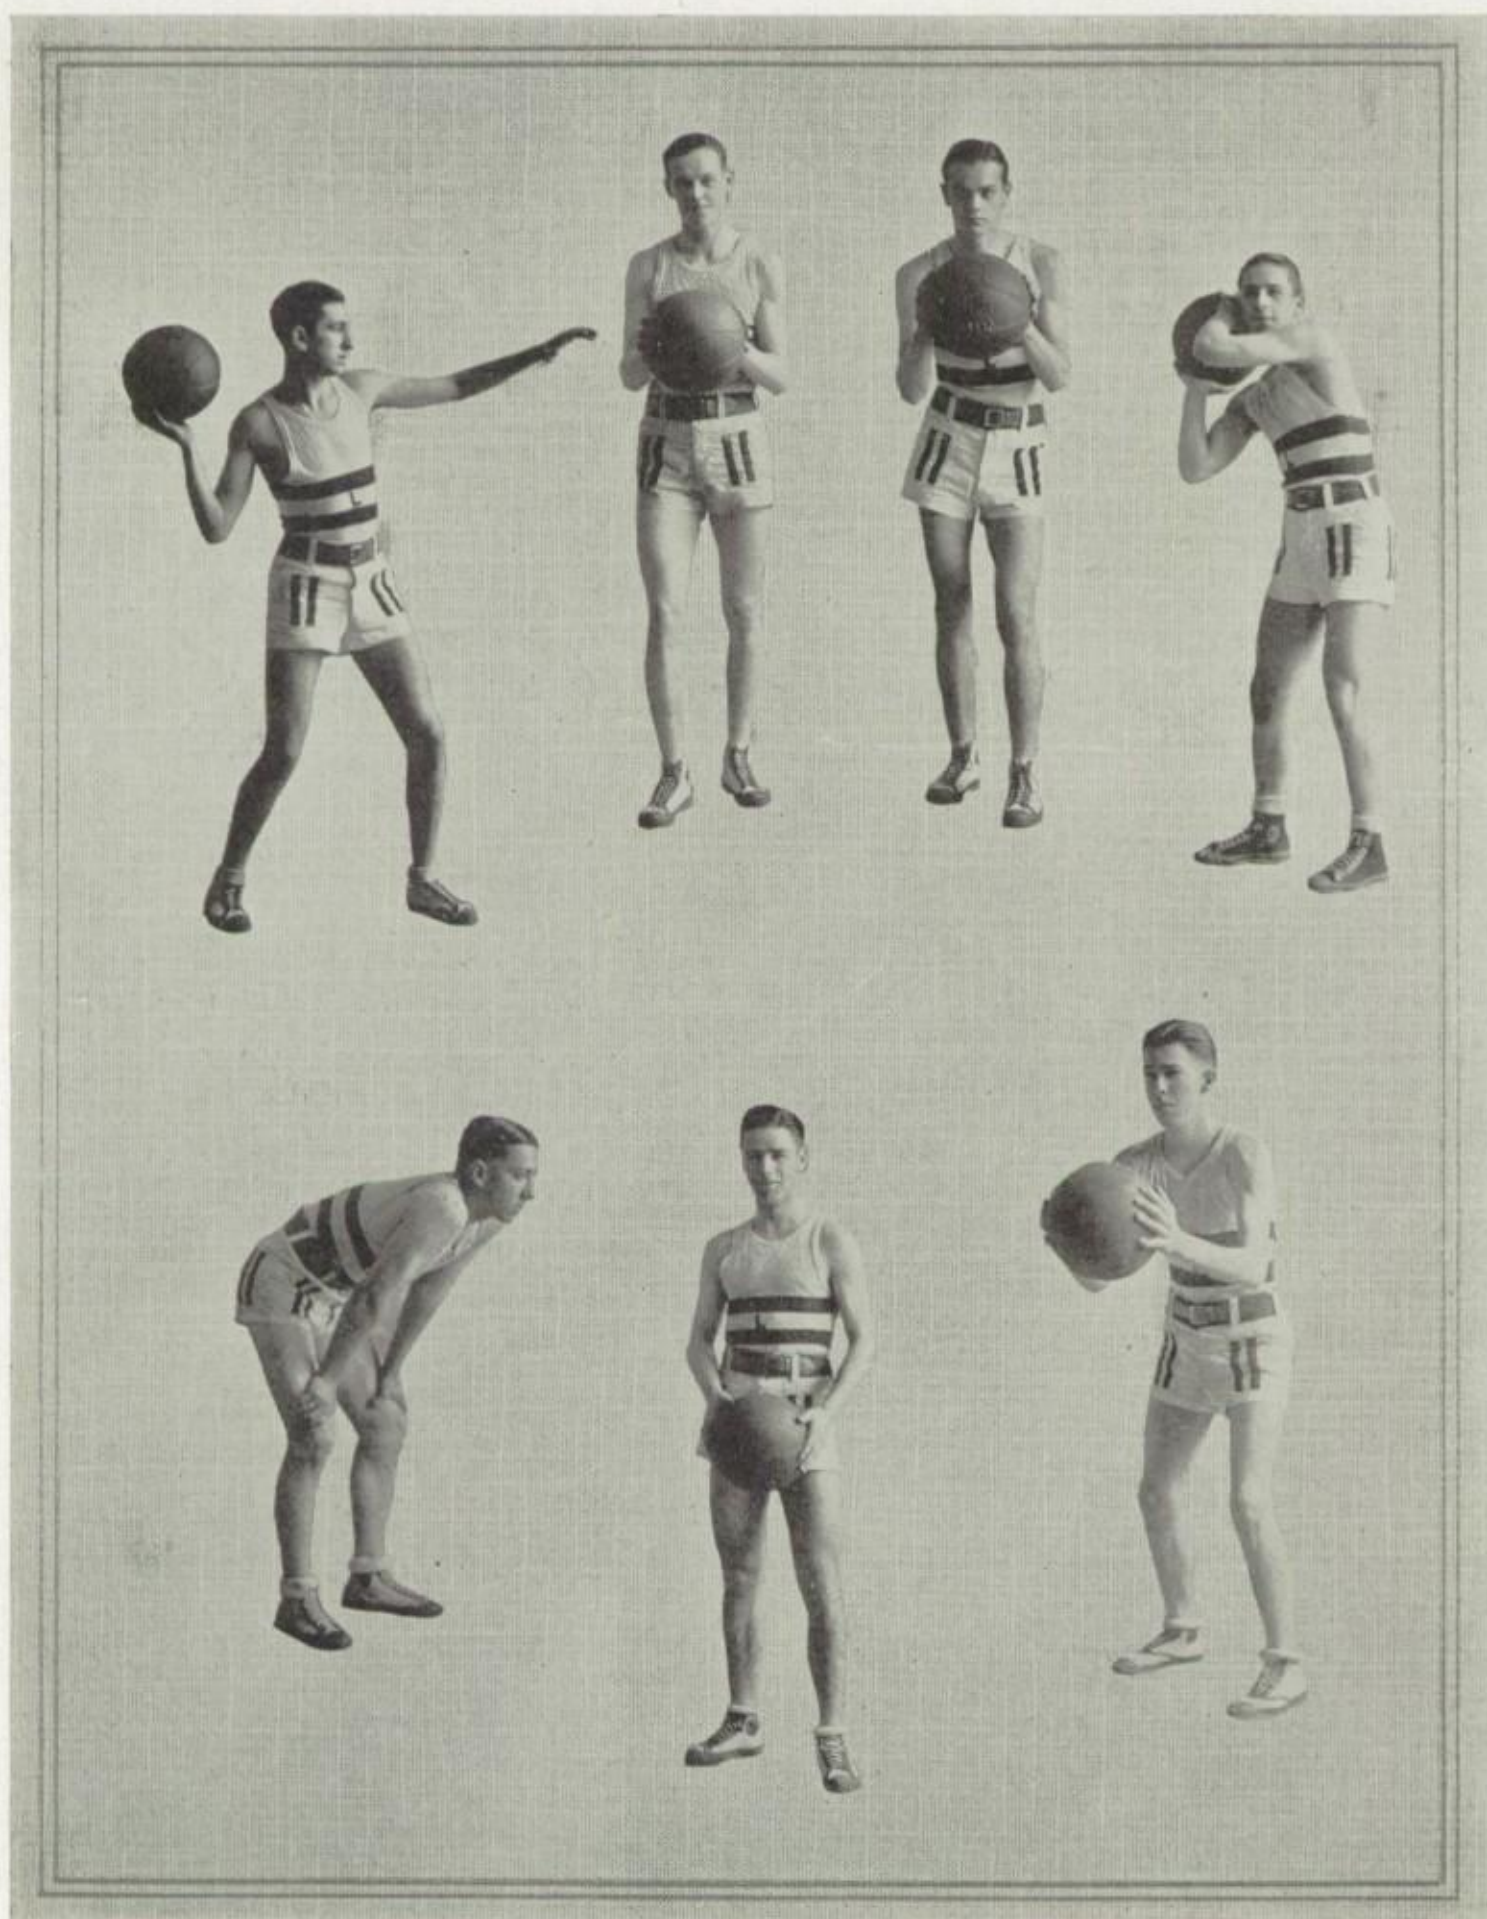

In its next encounter, that with Sacred Heart, the team put up its greatest battle of the season. They were opposed upon this occasion to probably the greatest array of individual stars upon any one team in the league, but their superior teamwork told again, and thus they were able to prove once again the old theory that teamwork is more successful than starring by individualism, for they captured the fracas by a 22-16 score.

As a result of this victory the team was placed in a tie with St. Ignatius for first place. However, as a result of the playoff the tie was changed to another Lowell win, for the team again trounced the Ignatius representatives, this time by gaining a 21 point total as against their opponents 13 points. Despite the fact that the game was nip and tuck throughout, there was really little doubt in the minds of the majority of spectators as to the ultimate winners, for whenever the score got close and the going rough, the Red and White team stepped out and scored a few points to put themselves on easy street again.

The 130-Pound Basketball Team

Captain Lauren Franchi who, besides leading his team to a championship, was selected as All City Forward.

FAVORED with an array of capable hoopsters which showed championship prospects from early season, Coach Dykes succeeded in accomplishing what many a mentor has failed to accomplish by bringing his team through an undefeated season to the championship.

The team was aided in conditioning itself by six practice games, all of which resulted in Lowell victories. The first two of these against city club teams, resulted in overwhelming victories, while the next four against Petaluma High, Vallejo, Tamalpais Union, and Richmond High School's thirties, although not overwhelming, were nevertheless decisive Red and White successes.

The league was ushered in by a 13-10 victory over the Galileo representatives, despite the fact that Churton and Dieudonne were ineligible for competition that day due to their inability to pass in the required amount of scholastic work.

Commerce, last year's champs, was the victim this time by a 23-24 score. The Blue and White players chalked up a 9 point lead before the regulars were rushed into the fray. However, this lead was gradually lessened until when the final whistle blew the score was tied. The extra five minutes' playoff resulted in a Lowell victory, for Commerce was only able to score a foul against a Lowell field goal.

The next game, against Mission, was a hard fought game in which the superior team work of the Lowell boys showed to sufficient advantage to enable them to take the game by a 20-16 count.

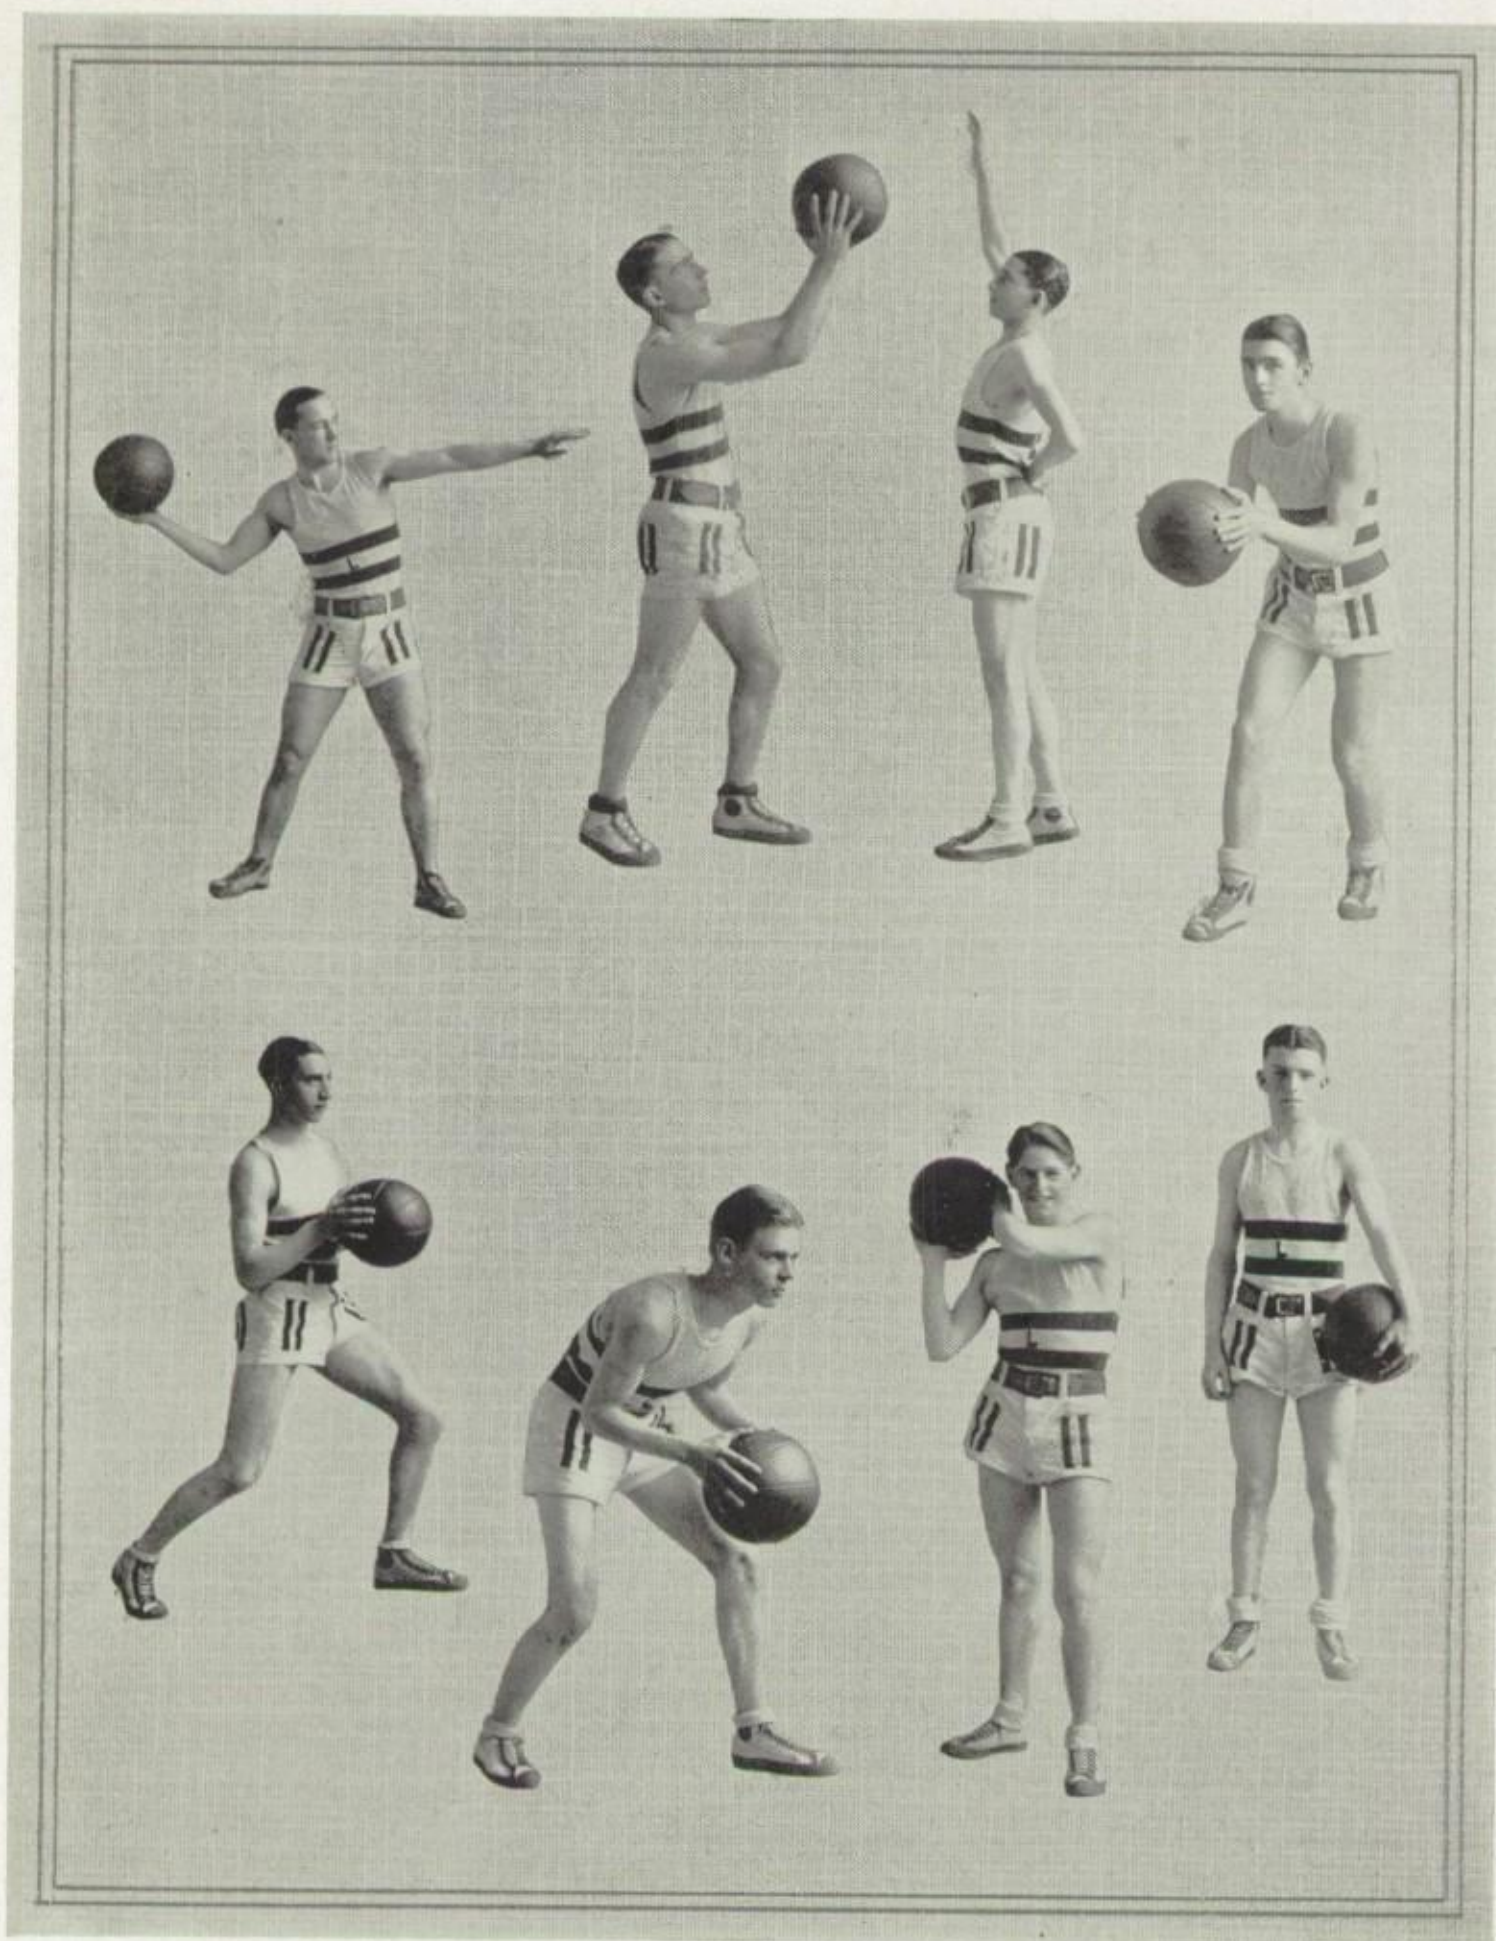

Following in order, Lick-Wilmerding, also proved unsuccessful in her efforts to wrest victory from the Cardinals, and so the thirties "chalked up" another decisive but hard earned victory by a 35-8 score.

The final game, against Sacred Heart, proved a repetition of its predecessors, for the Lowell team work was so superior that an easy 32-13 victory resulted, thus closing the season and winning the championship without a defeat.

Polytechnic failed to enter a team as in the other divisions, and so no Lowell-Polytechnic game occurred.

The team lined up with Captain Franchi and Long at the Forward posts, Wacholder at center, and Dieudonne and Churton at guards. The rest of the squad included Dalpino, Goldner, Jones, Sartori, Simmon, Wahrlich and Carroll.

The Weight Track

Captain Wardell Jennings
who proved to be a most capable leader, and whose team made a creditable showing in the S. F. A. L.

WITH the majority of his point-getters thrust into the outside world by graduation, or out for the unlimiteds, Captain "Bud" Jennings was forced to begin the 1925 Junior Track season with but a handful of veterans. To make matters worse, no coach was available to impart the necessary knowledge of form that is so essential to a track or field man.

Those few athletes who remained in the light weight ranks, however, together with the new material that was encouraged to try out, started practice late in February and worked daily until the final meet of the year.

Their numbers were materially increased by the "inter-gym" track meet held in April, which turned up promising aspirants for places on the team, much to the encouragement of Captain Jennings. With this unexpected addition, things began to look brighter.

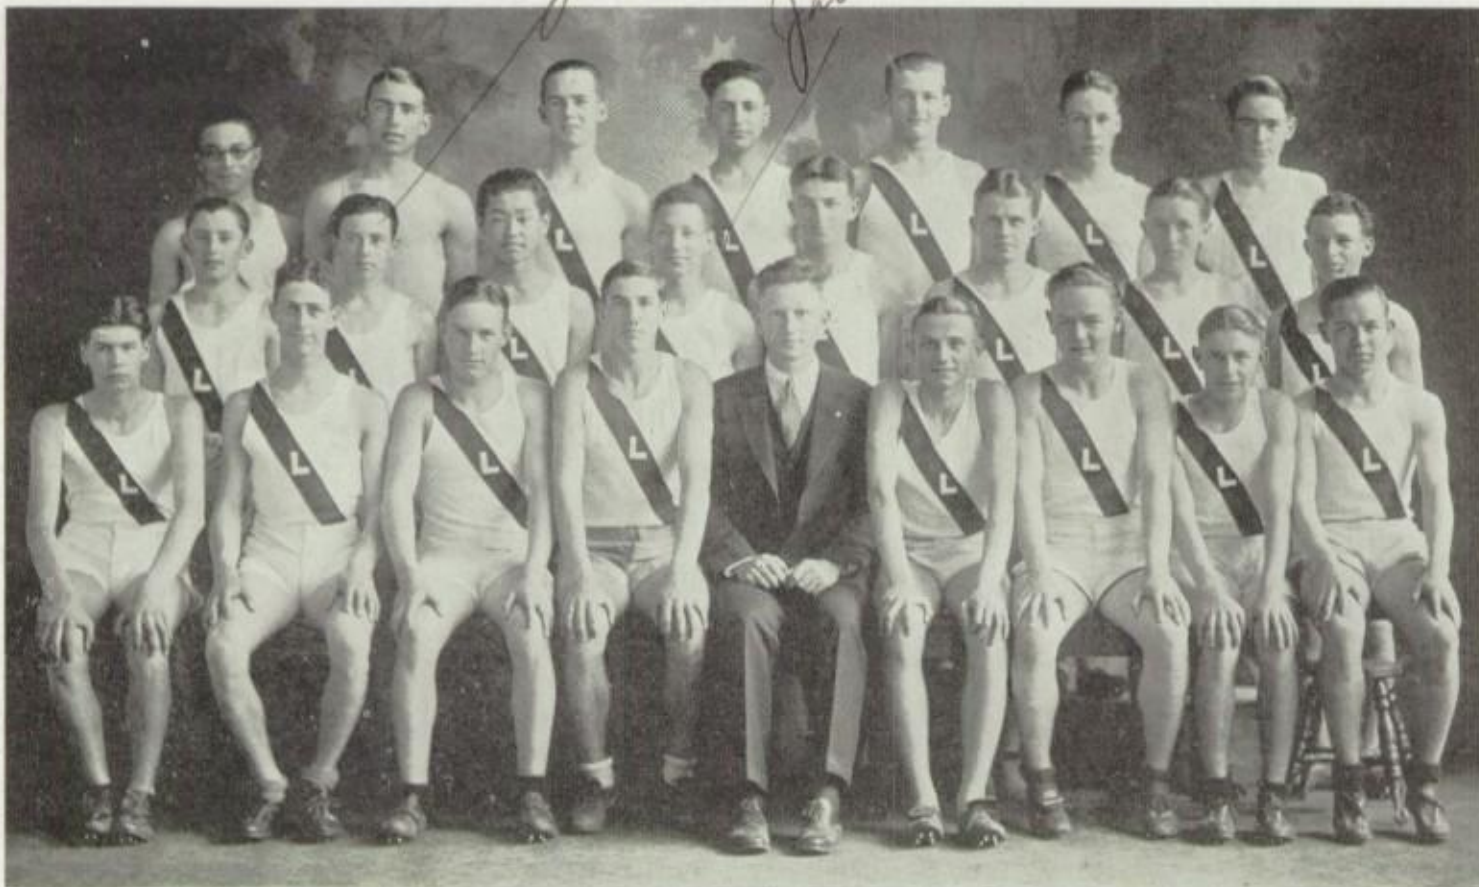

On top of this came the announcement that "Red" Nuner, a former Cardinal track man himself, would occupy the post of coach. True to the notice, "Red" appeared on the track the following day and thereafter until the S. F. A. L., unselfishly devoting his time to the task of strengthening a weak aggregation.

With the advent of Nuner as coach, a much needed practice schedule was arranged. Galileo was first taken on and beaten by a lop-sided score. A week later St. Ignatius proved not so easy, and won by ten points. This fracas was not decided, however, until the final events were run off, the relays proving the turning point. Following this, Lick Wilmerding fell before the onslaught of Red and White. The engagement with the "Tigers" concluded the practice season for Lowell with a final batting average of .666.

On May 16 came the Big Meet in the Kezar Memorial Stadium. Although a victory was not resultant, the lightweight tracksters put up a battle. Goldner, Robinson, McBirney, Anfinson, and the relay teams came through with the necessary points to put Lowell in the score column.

Our hats are off to Nuner and Jennings who, although they did not turn out a championship outfit, kept the future name of Lowell in view and built up a strong foundation for next season.

Weight Crew

Captain William Winship
who led the 145-Pound Crew to a championship, and whose powerful stroke was dominant throughout the race.

THIS term witnessed a determined bid for student body favor on the part of S. F. A. L. crew activities, due to the innovation of 130-pound and 145-pound junior regattas. Never before has a new sport such as this made a more promising manifestation of future greatness, for an unprecedented interest in rowing brought out a good sized crowd which lined the entire course and cheered the Lowell huskies to a pair of victories out of a possible three. Thus, the Lowell oarsmen firmly entrenched as rulers of the ocean deep for the year of 1925.

The 45's enjoyed a most successful practice season, easily taking the measure of the Roosevelt High crew by fully two boat lengths. Substituting for the Red and White unlimited oarsmen, the 45's journeyed over to Oakland and were barely nosed out by the Oakland Tech Varsity. This feat served to give the men the necessary confidence and impetus to more thorough practice which ultimately brought them the championship.

Due to the fact that San Francisco High Schools alone have organized 130-pound crews, practice meets for the Cardinal lightweights could not possibly be obtained outside of the city limits. However, in an unofficial race with the Commerce crew, the winner of the S. F. A. L., the Lowell 30's rowed to an easy victory.

Too much credit cannot be heaped on the shoulders of Jimmy Montgomery, our student coach, who has labored incessantly year in and year out to raise rowing to the height which it has attained on the sport calendar. Overcoming the handicap of an extremely short practice season and the burden of turning out three crews furnished with but one boat, Montgomery seemed to have accomplished a miracle in transforming a bunch of "green" material into a trio of smart working teams of Red and White oarsmen.

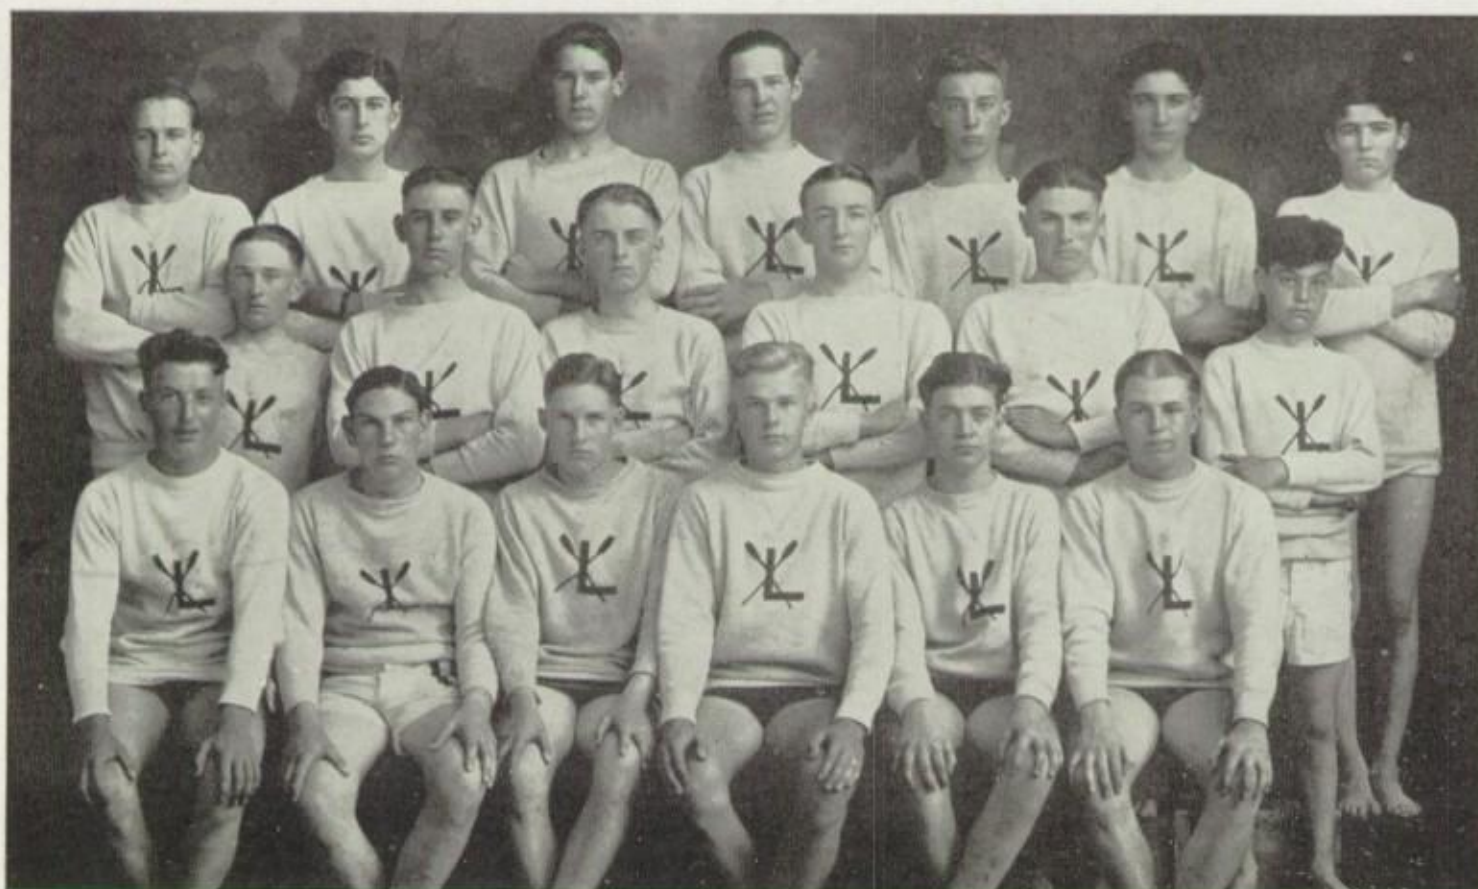

Lauren Franchi, of the 130-pound crew, again demonstrated his powers of leadership, when he was unanimously chosen to captain the Lowell lightweights, this being the third time "Frenchy" has received the honor of captaining a Lowell team.

The 145's selected as their captain a veteran worthy of the post, Bill Winship, who proved himself a capable leader and contributed much to the crew's ultimate victory in the S. F. A. L.

Captain Lauren Franchi
whose popularity and leadership were main factors in the success of the 150-Pound Crew.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP 145-LB. CREW

The 145-Pound Crew

MAINTAINING the aquatic reputation of the Red and White, the 145-pound crew took to the water only as Cardinals can and romped off with the initial S. F. A. L. regatta in their class by a comfortable margin. The Lowell men showed the results of conscientious training and practice, using an even stroke to advantage and leading throughout the race, and the result was never in doubt. The Lowell oarsmen had the pleasure of humiliating the Polytechnic rivals by five boat lengths.

The Lowell boat lined up as follows:

The 130-Pound Crew

HOUGH handicapped by a scarcity of material, the 130-pound crew worked diligently and finally rounded into a formidable aggregation which bid well to annex the championship. Fate, however, ruled adversely. The Red and White oarsmen were leading the field at the finish of the S. F. A. L. regatta with their coveted goal almost won when a miscalculation of the tide sent them against the trailing Commerce boat, which crossed the line just ahead of our fighting thirties. Throughout the race the Lowell lightweights gave a sterling exhibition of grit and co-operation against their heavier rivals, and, but for the unfortunate occurrence at the finish, would have made possible a clean sweep of the day's races for Montgomery's charges.

The Lowell thirties lined up as follows:

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

Girls' Rooting

Gerry Eidenmuller, Bernice Band, Jean Wagner

THIS term, because they have had a yell leader fully equipped with assistants, the girls of the school have come into greater prominence than they ever have in the past. At the rallies for girls they have had an opportunity to become better acquainted with their old school songs and yells and learn many new ones, hence the feminine element was heard at the games and rallies amid the masculine uproar.

The yell leaders were full of spirit, and in their white sweaters and red ties made a showing that quite rivaled that of their masculine competitors.

Aided by this peppy yell leader, Bernice Band and her two capable assistants, Geraldine Eidenmuller and Jean Wagner, the girls no longer remain in the background and they should be heard from again this coming semester.

Girls' Athletics

WITH a bevy of worthy and diligent leaders, girls' sports have had a greater following than ever before and the teams are well represented.

Inter-class and inter-scholastic rivalry have spurred the girls in the different activities on to high degrees of enthusiasm. Almost daily they could be seen after school in the court practicing and "warming up" for their favorite sport.

Volleyball, baseball, basketball, tennis, rowing, and swimming were the sports which proved so popular, and the girls worked hard for their numerals and blocks.

The athletic managers of the different classes met and planned for the welfare of the girls with Barbara Wiederman as girls' athletic manager of the school. Miss Flynn and Miss Osborne were of invaluable assistance to the success of this term's athletics.

Championship Girls' Crew

HE manager, Elna Swesey, has staunchly declared this season the finest on record. Every girl on the team was faithful to the end, and the successful finish in the regatta culminated a term's hard work through rain and shine. It is quite a trip to the harbor for practice once a week, and it meant a late dinner for the girls on that day. However, this did not dampen their ardor and hard work became their motto.

Of the first crew were J. Schiek, J. Andruss, D. Brown, A. Easton, E. Fuller, F. Dryden, D. Wheeler, E. Worthington, H. Leon, P. Wrightson, H. Heckman, and D. Ford. E. Clarke was pilot.

The second crew were B. Band, D. Redfield, B. Denke, Jerret, Stiefel, R. Kestenbaum, J. Oliver, G. Eidenmuller, Kellogg, R. Walther, Lynch, Chubbuck, Luhenbelle, Naumberg, and D. Roebke.

Championship Girls' Swimming Team

OUR aquatic sport has seemed more alluring than ever this semester. Fair swimmers longed for Thursday of each week, the day set for this clean, healthful exercise at Sutro. Manager Virginia de Camp felt momentarily panic-stricken when she faced the problem of managing the some hundred and thirty-five girls who signed up. She met the difficulty, however, and has proven a very clever leader.

The girls chosen for the team were: Virginia de Camp, Barbara Weiderman, Matie McLaren, Maxine Pressler, Janet Reese and Gladys Moore.

Girls' Baseball

IT IS no snap to make a baseball team! The boys may talk, but let them be assured here and now that it is not. On the girls' "nine," the pitcher undergoes as many agonies, the catcher as hard a time, and the outfielders as long sprints as any players on the sturdier team. Because the sport is rather difficult is, perhaps, the reason that it was not so successful this term. Those who trained so long are deserving of praise for their support of the hardest activity listed for girls.

They were of the Freshmen: Corbett, Scott, Otten, Groezinger, Crittenden, Heyman, Gramn, Millsap, and Burbank.

The most energetic team of all, the Sophs, was made up of Cullen, Katz, Mortigia, Eidenmuller, Landon, Paddock, Case, Bachm, Kees, and Roitenstein.

The Junior players were Rasmussen, Bellis, Bothman, Schneider, Lavers, Band, Bell, Lister, and Baldwin.

Seniors: Hoffman, Moriarty, Tucker, Ludwig, Sorola, Saraga, Douglas, and Wilson.

Edna Bothman was the manager, a position demanding capability and honest effort which she possesses without question.

Girls' Tennis

NE has but to compare the success of this term with the previous records and conclude that girls' tennis has regained its popularity in full. Such a lot of good material to pick from! Girls for each of the four teams were chosen under the system of challenges. This enabled a player to advance to the head of the list on her own merits. The first five became eventually the tennis team of each class.

Matches played with other high schools proved Lowell's superiority in mostly every case, in fact, they boast sweeping victories.

The Senior girls include the Misses Landman, Haseltine, Ham, Mensing, Tucker, and Budinski.

The Juniors were: Corcoran, I. Mensing, B. Baxter, Bothman, and K. Braun.

In the Sophomore lineup were: R. Plath, M. Plath, Melville, Steinberg, and E. Levin.

The Freshmen consisted of McKay, Schultz, O'Claire, and Levene.

Irene Mensing was the peppy manager and very much responsible for the term's success.

Manager

Girls' Volley Ball

SPORT which has found its own. The merits of the game, and its demand for skill have paved the way to its popularity and the enthusiasm of the girls has made it successful throughout the term. Many a wrist felt weak after the first few Mondays, but the results have been sufficient reward. The different teams played Girls High, Galileo, and Mission with the traditional Lowell spirit and sportsmanship.

The braver ones of the Seniors were Misses Landman, Haseltine, Ludwig, Crocker, Tucker, McLaren, with substitutes Gaetjen, Mensing, Mowbray, Tokata, and Levin.

The Juniors consisted of Barclay, Anderson, Bellis, Fortini, Harris, Ringressy, and Maicoff.

The Sophomores: Adams, Alexander, Boehm, Keily, Logue, Mohrig, Newton, Nicholas, Schraif, and A. Weber.

And the Freshmen were Bowers, Bauer, Blank, Campbell, David, Heyman, Holland, Mehler, O'Claire, Scheifer, and F. Weber.

Henrietta Landman had a busy time as manager, faithfully accomplishing all her duties.

CONSIDER THESE FACTS:

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES WIN SUCCESS IN BUSINESS.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES WITH A HEALD TRAINING WIN GREATER SUCCESS MORE RAPIDLY.

YOU will do the work when you accept a position in business.

BUSINESS will determine how valuable your services are.

YOU will soon want to earn more money, and will look for ways of getting it.

DON'T SPEND YEARS—depending upon experience alone—in getting the facts that will help you to accomplish your purpose. Attend Heald's where these facts are already collected and arranged in understandable form. The value of a Heald training has been tested and proved by thousands. You can attend Heald's at night—but it is better to attend Heald's Day School now, if you can. Send for the Heald catalog "BUSINESS."

PARIS!

YOU CAN HAVE ALL ITS STYLE AND CHARM IN GOWNS OF YOUR OWN MAKING

A year ago you would have laughed at the idea of re-creating a Paris gown at home—today you can calmly do it.

You can sit down and sew, knowing your dress will be perfect—in its style, its lines, its finish.

The Deltor, now included with every new Butterick Pattern, gives you the deft success of a professional in your sewing.

THE DELTOR IS THE ONLY PATTERN SERVICE WHICH GIVES YOU—

1. Complete cutting layouts with your size pattern and view, from your identical width of goods.
2. Complete illustrated directions showing you how to put your frock together.
3. Complete illustrated directions for details of finishing and trimming which give your frock the authentic French touch.

STUDENTS:

The world is calling loudly for the educated and trained young man and woman. Writers, statesmen, business men and nearly all successful people earnestly desire that you of the younger generation profit from the experience of all that has gone before in the history of mankind. Also that you avoid all that has been proven to lead to failure.

Time has shown that the person who can answer "YES" to the question, "ARE YOU ABLE TO SAVE MONEY," need have no fear about the outcome and the success which he will make of his life. The ANGLO-CALIFORNIA TRUST COMPANY especially desires to encourage students in building up their savings, and through the co-operation of student bankers a Bank Day twice a week is held at Lowell High School for your convenience.

CALIFORNIA'S DIAMOND JUBILEE

THIS year, 1925, will long be remembered because of the wonderful celebration to be held in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of California's admission into the Union.

Another matter worthy of remembrance is that for one-half of the above period our firm has been catering to the printing wants of this community, establishing a record of which we are proud.

This publication is the product of our presses and the graduates of Lowell will do well to remember us in the future when the occasion arises that they will require printing for themselves or their friends.
